PUBLIC WRATH FRIGHTENS THE DIVEKEEPERS

Speakeasies and Gambling Houses Were Tightly Closed Last Night in Allegheny's Lower Wards.

BUSINESS MEN ARE GLAD TO SERVE ON COMMITTEE

James W. Grove, George B. Logan and James E. Stoner Have Already Agreed to Assist in Cleansing Their Native City of Vice.

GAZETTE'S CRUSADE IS GATHERING HEADWAY

Speakeasies and gambling houses in the First and Fourth wards of Allegheny are closed. Last night even those which have been running close hauled because of the exposures made by The Gazette failed to open their doors.

This most unusual state of affairs is directly due to The Gazette's statements. It did not result from any action of the officials. Saloonkeepers and bottlers were really at the bottom of the movement that promises to be successful for a time at least.

Early yesterday morning, long after closing hours for saloons, and when most poker games have broken up, saloonkeepers, bottlers, gamblers and the proprietors of gambling houses and speakeasies, gathered in a well-known Federal street saloon. They came with such directness, and were admitted so readily that it was evident the conference had been prearranged.

The proprietor of the saloon is a well-known citizen of the First ward, who has complained about the wide open condition of the speakeasies and gambling houses in the wards. Other interested saloonkeepers were present, as were bottlers whose trade has been spoiled through forcing the proprietors of various resorts to purchase their liquor from one bottler.

The situation was thoroughly discussed. People who had been warned to quit on account of the exposures of The Gazette were anxious that the fellows who were running quietly should close entirely. These latter were nervous about their standing, and willingly listened to reason.

Bottler Threatens Exposure.

The moving spirit of the gathering was a First ward bottler, whose business was almost ruined by the influence thrown to a rival in the trade. He argued and threatened for some time. Finally an agreement was reached, and lower Allegheny, that is the two river wards, was tightly closed last night.

The bottler who was mainly responsible for this has handed down his ultimatum. He insists that if the gambling houses and speakeasies open again and he does not get his fair share of the business he will take a hand at exposing on his own account, and prosecute the proprietors of the places that refuse to trade with him.

His knowledge of the two wards, and the acquaintance he has, make him an important factor. Even with police protection no gambler could with impunity run his place and sell liquor illegally with this man on his track.

Among those present at the meeting were gambling house keepers in Darrah street, Sandusky street and Robinson street. None of the small fry were called in, but another meeting for their benefit will be held later.

This is only the beginning of reform. Even if the bottlers and others reach an agreement with the bottler who has been getting all the trade and try to reopen their places, they will still have the reform element, which is daily growing stronger, to deal with. This action in the First and Fourth wards will have no effect on the work of the citizens committee appointed to investigate the condition of affairs and demand redress.

Committee Meets Today.

The committee appointed last Monday afternoon to investigate the existing vice conditions will hold its first meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Allegheny Theological seminary, North avenue and Buena Vista street, Allegheny. A full meeting is hoped for, though it is possible that there may be one or two absentees.

Thanksgiving afternoon was selected as the best day this week for the business men who are members of the committee to attend a meeting. Of the five business men appointed three have consented to serve, one has refused and the fifth is expected to attend the meeting this afternoon. Albert A. Horne is the member who declines to interest himself in the movement. Mr. Horne pleads business cares and says such work is not to his taste.

James W. Grove, George B. Logan and James M. Stoner have all agreed to serve on the committee and are much interested in the movement. J. Walter Hay has asked the committee time to consider the matter and decide whether his business interests will allow him to devote sufficient time to the committee. Mr. Horne's place will be filled this afternoon and if Mr. Hay decides not to serve another man will be chosen also.

This first meeting will be largely preparatory and it is probable that very little of a definite nature will be accomplished. The evidence at hand will be thoroughly gone over and a plan mapped out, but just what that plan will be is not known.

George B. Logan Glad to Aid.

George B. Logan of the Logan-Gregg Company said yesterday afternoon that he would serve on the committee and is only waiting now for notice of a meeting. Mr. Logan is heartily in favor of the reform measures planned. Said he:

"I think it is the duty of respectable citizens to do anything in their power to better the condition of their city and certainly the removal of conditions now existing in parts of Allegheny cannot but work to the betterment of the community. I will attend the meetings of the committee and do what I can to assist it.

"I was very glad that The Gazette took up the crusade, and I am entirely in sympathy with the movement. Such things have been tried before, and found to be an almost hopeless task. This time, I hope, something will be accomplished. The officials may say they are using their discretion as to countenancing certain resorts, but I do not think the officials have discretionary powers in that way. Their plain duty is to enforce the laws.

"I do not knew yet what the course of the committee will be. I do not know myself just what to suggest, but I suppose the first meeting will develop some definite plan."

"There Is Ample Room for Reform."

James M. Stoner, another member of the committee, will also serve on it. "I am a taxpayer and freeholder in Allegheny," said he, "and I feel that it is the duty of every citizen to take an interest in the welfare of the city in which he lives. If the accounts The Gazette has printed are true, and I have no doubt they are, there is ample room for reform in Allegheny. When any citizen is requested to serve on such a committee as this it seems to me he ought to do it, and he will if he has the welfare of the city at heart.

"I have a great deal of business to attend to, and get very little time for anything outside my practice, but I will serve on the committe, and do all I can to assist in the reform. It will be a help to the city to be cleaned out a little."

James W. Grove has also, it is understood, accepted the call to serve on the committee, as a call to duty, and J. Walter Hay is thought to hold the same views, and will serve if it is at all possible.

In the report of the meeting which was held on Monday afternoon in the Pressly chapel of the Allegheny Theological seminary, an error was made in the initials of Mr. McClelland. As given it was J. R., but should have been S. T. McClelland.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS EXPOSURE.

City Treasurer of Louisville Kills Himself When Discrepancies Are Discovered.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 27.—After being offered an evening newspaper which said his books were under examination by expert accountants, Stuart R. Young, city treasurer of Louisville, this evening went to the rear of a warehouse at Sixth and Nelson streets and committed suicide by shooting himself behind the right ear with a pistol.

The corpse lay in the cinders clothed in fashionable garments, including a light tan overcoat and a gray Alpine hat. The body was removed to an undertaking establishment under orders of the coroner, for an inquest.

A sensation was created late this afternoon when an evening paper appeared with a story that accountants were at work on the books of the retiring city treasurer, Stuart R. Young, and that it was reported that discrepancies had been found in his accounts.

Young was one of the prominent men in Louisville. He was a graduate of Princeton university, a son of Col. Bennett H. Young, a prominent lawyer and former confederate soldier of Louisville, and a brother of Lawrence Young of Chicago, president of the Washington Park Jockey club.

CROWD OF SPORTS SAW A COCKING MAIN NEAR MILLVALE LAST NIGHT

"CHUCK LUCK" FAVORITE

Cock-fighting is again a favorite amusement in Pittsburgh, and beginning with last night a busy season is promised by the promoters.

In a building on the heights above Millvale last night 200 men sat fascinated, while two game cocks fought out their battle for life. The blood that flew at every stroke of the steel gaffs added increased interest to the struggle between the roosters and the spectators watched the main with bated breath and in perfect silence.

One battle was quickly followed by another, and at last, late this morning, the crowd of "sports" wended their way homeward, little before the sun rose over the hill tops.

The crowd which was present at the battles was one of the most cosmopolitan ever seen at a similar gathering. Rundown sports, short card men, weather-beaten railroaders and brawny mill workers rubbed shoulders with Pittsburgh's society leaders, professional men, bankers, and here and there a police official in citizen's clothes, enjoying his own night of law-breaking. "Chuck-luck" and other games of chance were also in evidence, and were well patronized.

The place where the main took place is away up the hill from Millvale, and much money and pains have been taken to make it an ideal pit for the battles of the coming winter.

The pit shows that the men who were in charge of its construction knew what they were doing.

The barriers, however, are not too high for a chicken to jump over when things are getting too warm for him. Two jumped over last night, and it was determined by the "committee" that by Wednesday night, when the next fight is to take place, no more jumping will be possible.

Last night every one seemed to take a great interest in the first fight. The reason for this was that the chicken with a game leg belonged to a man who was popular, and, besides, the "chuck-luck" game had not depleted the pockets of the guests.

This rooster's name was Rube, and although he had a game leg, his energy more than made up this handicap, and he was heavily backed by his owner's friends. He limped up and fought six rounds and finally gaffed the life out of an older and stronger bird. In the second event the chickens were better matched and knew a little more about holding their wind. Their trainers would fan them energetically between rounds, and by the time the count was finished they would be fresh and full of fight.

After the second event the "chuck-luck" game attracted the most attention. The affair continued all night, and was financially a success.

WRECK KILLS A TRAIN LOAD OF EMIGRANTS

The Wabash Road Near Adrian, Mich., Scene of Deadly Collision

Majority of the Passengers on Train No. 13 Are Said to Have Perished.

FIRE COMPLETES THE DESTRUCTIVE WORK

Disaster Said to Have Been the Consequence of a Misunderstanding of Orders—List of Dead and Injured May Reach 150.

DETROIT, Nov. 27.—From 100 to 150 persons were killed or injured tonight in the most disastrous railroad wreck in the history of Michigan railroads. Two heavily loaded passenger trains on the Wabash railroad collided head-on at full speed one mile east of Seneca, the second station west of Adrian. The westbound train, consisting of two cars loaded with immigrants, and five other coaches, was smashed and burned, with the result of awful loss of life and fearful injuries to a majority of its passengers. The eastbound train, the Continental limited, suffered in scarcely less degree.

The track in the vicinity of the wreck is strewn with dead and dying. Many physicians from Detroit have gone to the scene.

The track at the point where the collision occured was straight and at first the officials could not understand how the accident could have happened. No. 13, which ordinarily is due to leave Detroit at 2:30 o'clock, was two hours late, leaving at 4:20. The two trains meet at Montpelier, according to schedule, but No. 4 had orders to wait for No. 13 at Seneca. The blame is therefore placed on the conductor or engineer of No. 4.

Bodies Strewn Along the Track.

The country for miles around is lighted up by the burning cars. The flames could not be quenched because of lack of apparatus. Mangled bodies were picked up along the track by farmers before the special train sent from Adrian arrived on the scene. In some instances the bodies were mangled beyond all recognition.

Train No. 1, composed of seven coaches hauled by two engines. Reports differ as to the number of coaches carrying immigrants. One says there were but two another says there were five or six coaches carrying this class of tourists.

All but the two rear coaches on No. 13, the westbound train, were demolished, and the coach on No. 4 was telescoped. Five of the cars of train No. 13 caught fire and are still burning. The loss of life is estimated at 100 on this train. The loss of life on No. 4 is said to be 25. Engine No. 88 of train 13 exploded and engine 699 on No. 4 turned over into a ditch. Two firemen and one engineer on No. 13 were killed and the firemen and engineer on No. 4's engine jumped and escaped.

Aiding the Injured.

A special train from Detroit, carrying 32 physicians and surgeons, started for Seneca at once. When it arrived on the scene all the doctors and physicians of Adrian had been at work for an hour, but the flames retarded the work of rescue. The wounded had been placed on stretchers in the coaches sent from Adrian.

At 10:45 o'clock the first train loaded with wounded left the scene of the wreck for Adrian. The dead were left behind, to be carried in on a later train. The wrecking train, ordered from Montpelier, 30 miles away, arrived shortly after 5 o'clock, but the heavy vestibuled cars

PANAMA TRAIN HALTED BY BIG HEAPS OF DEAD BLOCKING THE TRACKS

MANY PERISH IN RIVER

(SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.)
(Copyright, 1901, by the New York Herald Co.)

BOHIA SOLDADO, COLOMBIA (in the Field With the Revolutionary Troops, 5:30 p. m., via Colon, Colombia), Nov. 27.—The Colombian insurgents have recaptured the Babacoas bridge, have driven the government force from Bohia Soldado and Buena Vista, and a few minutes ago Gen. Barrera, arriving here on horseback, announced that Gen. Alban's force had been routed and had returned to its position near San Pablo.

Revolutionists say that of the 300 federal soldiers engaged at and around the Babacoas bridge, all except about 50 were killed or wounded. The insurgents lost 11 men in killed and wounded.

Fighting took place along the Panama railroad all day, and was at times furious. While I was taking notes, less than an hour ago, near Buena Vista, spent bullets dropped near my position. At that time two wounded Liberals, who were on their way to Bohia Soldado, reported that they had seen only a few wounded insurgents at Buena Vista, but that the government loss was heavy. They said the railroad bed was covered at one spot with dead and wounded of the government troops, and that the latter were shooting some of their wounded.

A train was forced to stop because of the bodies on the track. The bodies were removed quickly and the train proceeded. Many bodies are floating down the Chagres river.

After the government force had been driven from Buena Vista I returned to this place. The latest intelligence from the front is that the fighting has ceased. The victorious insurgents are weary from their long day's battle, and it is not likely that they will attack the government troops near San Pablo tonight.

I have just received news that two vessels have landed Liberal reinforcements and a large supply of ammunition at Chorrera. The troops with ammunition are on their way here. There is a flotilla of insurgent craft at Point Chame, on the Pacific coast, about 15 miles from Chorrera. Among the vessels are the rebel gunboats Monotombo and Darien. This flotilla has brought a large supply of ammunition and many men from the Ecuadorean coast.

Couriers report that the residents in and near San Pablo are seeking refuge in the mountains. They anticipate that a battle will be fought around San Pablo tomorrow.

COLON, COLOMBIA, Nov. 27.—It was learned on the highest authority this afternoon that Gen. Jeffries is with Gen. Alban on the Colon side of Barbacoa, and that 300 men from Panama are now marching to join them in an attack upon this city.

The following dispatch has been received from Panama: "San Paola and Barbacoa are known here to be Liberal strongholds and places very easy to defend, while to cross the bridge spanning the Chagres river, now swollen, was next to impossible for an attacking force. The feat was accomplished, however, but the reason the Liberals at first abandoned Barbacoa is not made clear.

"The death rate on the government side was very great, many bodies falling into the river. An attempt was also made to make a detour on the river in boats, but the Chagres was swollen, the boats were capsized and many men were drowned.

"Gen. Castro commanded the government forces at Barbacoa. Gen. Alban tried to get a train yesterday morning to convey 200 men to the scene of the engagement at Barbacoa, but Capt. Perry of the Iowa said not a single armed man would be allowed to go on board.

EXPLOSION KILLED 29.

Two More Bodies Found in the Wrecked Building at Detroit.

DETROIT, Nov. 27.—When the search of the ruins of the rear building of the Penberthy Injector Company's plant, which was wrecked by a boiler explosion yesterday, was completed tonight the death list had reached a total of 29.

All but two of the company's employes have been located, and as these men worked in the front building, which was not wrecked, it is thought that they are at their homes. The men's addresses are not on the company's books, so it may be some time before they are located.

ENTIRE WARD WILL SOON BE BLOTTED OUT

Railroad Purchases Absorb West Carson Street Frontage.

EVERY VOTER WILL BE COMPELLED TO MOVE

Interests of the Panhandle, Lake Erie and Wabash Are Doing the Buying.

CHURCH, SCHOOL AND MILL ALONE ARE LEFT

When They Are Bought the Thirty-Third Ward Will Have No Public Institutions and No Dwelling Houses—Will Lose Its Identity.

Three railroad interests operating about the city of Pittsburgh will, in a short time, own all the property in the Thirty-third ward. This will ultimately leave the ward without a single voter, and will mean its elimination from the city map.

For years past the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad, otherwise known as the Panhandle, and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad have owned extensive blocks of property in the ward. For more than a year both roads have been steadily buying up the remaining property, the Lake Erie between West Carson street and the Monongahela river and the Panhandle between West Carson street and the hillside.

The Thirty-third ward is not large, and for some time past its population has been decreasing. Besides the railroad yards the entire ward consists of the Upper and Lower Clinton mills, the Sligo mills, a schoolhouse, a church, and a few dwellings. It lies between the Smithfield Street and the Point bridges, and from the river bank to the hillside.

Near the Smithfield Street bridge and along the river bank to the Point bridge the Lake Erie controls all the property. Recently large purchases have given the Lake Erie control of all the land between the bridges and West Carson street and the river bank, save the lower Clinton mill and about six lots.

On one of these lots stands the ward school and on another St. Malachi's church, while the remaining four are occupied by dwellings. Negotiations for the mill property and the six lots are now under way.

On the upper side of West Carson street, between the two bridges, the Panhandle owns most of the property. In fact, there are but two dwelling lots and the Upper Clinton mill still independent of the railroad. Within the past few weeks the Pan Handle has purchased more than 1,100 feet of frontage for a total cost of nearly $1,500,000. For one lot 25x100 feet $15,000 was paid.

In addition to these two railroads that have absorbed almost the entire ward, and will get it all eventually, the Wabash railroad must cross this property from the river to the hillside in order to get into its Mt. Washington tunnel.

Property on the lower side of West Carson street, which the Lake Erie railroad is negotiating for, is also wanted by the Wabash. The two roads are busy, one offering money and the other resorting to condemnation proceedings.

In the course of a year or two, when all the property of the ward is owned by the railroads, and the dwellings, schoolhouse and church are razed to get land for yard purposes, there will not be a public institution of any kind in the ward, and it will, of necessity, pass out of existence as a city ward. The Sligo mills have already been sold to the Panhandle, and it is understood that the two railroads have negotiations pending now for acquiring the Upper and Lower Clinton mills.

As a curious circumstance in this connection it is asserted that the Thirty-third ward, small as it is, has a great many more policemen and firemen than any other ward in the city, of course in proportion to population. In the old days this might have made a great difference to the policemen and firemen, as they held their places through political influence. Now the civil service system in vogue has done away with a great deal of favoritism in selecting and retaining employes of the two bureaus.

Roosevelt for Cuban Reciprocity.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—President Roosevelt, in his message to congress, will recommend the advisability of reducing the duty on Cuban sugar in return for trade concessions when the independent government in the island is set up, and also the reduction of the duty on sugar from the Philippines, as a means of stimulating the production of sugar in those islands.

MILLION AND A HALF MORE WILL BE SPENT UPON PENNSY LINES

The Monongahela Bridge in Pittsburgh Is to Be Rebuilt at an Early Day.

SOUTH SIDE TRACKAGE

(BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.)

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 27.—The Pennsylvania Company and the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company, at the meeting of their boards of directors today, authorized the expenditure of more than $1,500,000 on improvements, additional tracks and new bridges. All this work is to be completed next year.

The regular monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company was held in this city today. All the eastern directors were present but only Vice President Wood of the western system appeared. Among improvements ordered was the expenditure of nearly $500,000 for the rebuilding of the bridge known as No. 1, over the Monongahela river in Pittsburgh. The construction of the bridge was awarded to the American Bridge Company. It was also agreed to erect a passenger station at Indianapolis which will cost about $100,000, and to build at the same place a large house with more facilities for the prompt handling of freight. Other improvements were decided upon.

The directors also authorized the appropriation of additional money to complete the third and fourth tracks between Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston junction and Sheraden junction, Pittsburgh South Side. This is an expensive operation, as considerable rock has to be drilled and the work is heavy.

The Panhandle directors also passed an appropriate minute upon the retirement of James Means, division freight agent at Pittsburgh. Mr. Means leaves the service of the company on January 1, under the terms of the pension plan, after a service of 46 years.

The Pennsylvania Company board of directors acted favorably on bills requiring the expenditure of more than $700,000. The officers of the company were authorized to extend the second track from Lawrence Junction to Edenburg, on the Pittsburg, Youngstown & Ashtabula railroad, 4.8 miles, and from Grant to Miles, 3.8 miles. Owing to the formation of the ground it will take about $200,000 to complete the extension. Second track will also be laid between Bourbon and O. M. Tower, on the Fort Wayne branch, 12.5 miles. There is considerable second track to be laid on the Fort Wayne railroad next year.

The company will adopt a cab service in Chicago, similar to the one in this city and New York.

Owing to the heavy business in Pittsburgh it has been found necessary to have an additional connection between the Ohio connecting bridge and the Fort Wayne railroad at Allegheny. This improvement will cost nearly $270,000.

The yard at Steubenville of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Company is to be developed so that the increased business can be more readily handled. This improvement will cost about $50,000.

TORRANCE VERY SEVERE UPON GOVERNOR STONE.

Two Prospective Candidates for the Gubernatorial Chair in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Two prospective candidates for governor spent today here consulting with friends. They were Attorney General John Elkin and ex-Lieut. Gov. L. A. Watres of Scranton. Mr. Watres expected to meet Francis J. Torrance, Republican chairman of Allegheny, but was obliged to leave for Scranton before Mr. Torrance got in this evening from New York. Gen. Elkin would only say he is still friendly to Gov. Stone. Chairman Torrance said:

"If the Republicans are to elect the next governor of Pennsylvania great care must be given the selection of a candidate. The unexpected, unexplainable, inexcusable action of Gov. Stone in turning down the stalwart Republicans of the state and forming an alliance with Flinn, the former leader of the insurgents, was a blow squarely between the eyes for Senator Quay and those who have always been loyal to his leadership.

"In the past few weeks I have talked with many of the most prominent Republicans of the state. The sentiment is pronounced that we are facing a condition, not a theory, and that the sooner the fact is realized the better for the Republican party. There is a limit to all things. We have reached it. Success in the coming legislative and gubernatorial contests will depend upon confidence—confidence in the candidates presented and the principles they will represent.

"In my opinion Senator Quay's advice will be considered final by the state convention, which names the Republican gubernatorial candidate; but conventions do not elect—they simply nominate. No man understands this better than our senior senator. Personally I think a stalwart Republican should be elected. Such a man of necessity would be a friend of Quay's. But he must be a big, broad-gauge, representative man. Unless such a man is chosen there is little doubt of the election of Senator Cochran."

TRAFFIC NOT BADLY TIED UP, OFFICIALS SAY

Managers of Local Railroads Belittle Switchmen's Strike.

TRAINMEN HOLD TWO BIG MASS MEETINGS

MILLS COMPELLED TO SUSPEND OPERATION

Complication of the Existing Freight Congestion Is Making Trouble for Iron and Steel Men. Yard Crews Are Being Imported.

Most of the railway managers asserted yesterday that they had their traffic moving regardless of the switchmen's strike. Robert Pitcairn, Pittsburgh division superintendent and general agent of the Pennsylvania, said last night that everything was moving about as usual. He said that where men had quit others have taken their places. Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, said that the day had developed nothing but to indicate that the strike would be of short duration. Col. Schoonmaker said that eight yard crews of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie had quit yesterday morning, but that six of them resumed work at noon.

The strike leaders declared that they have every yard in and about Pittsburgh except those of the Ft. Wayne and the Panhandle either tied up or badly crippled for operations.

J. M. Wallis, a division superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad, arrived here yesterday evening and was met by Supt. Pitcairn. It is understood that they met Patrick H. Morrisey, grand master, and Val Fitzpatrick, third vice grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, last night.

Trainmen Hold Meetings.

Members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen met in the Avenue theater yesterday morning and afternoon. Several hundred men were present. Grand Master Morrisey said after the meetings that a unanimous vote had sustained the action of the members of the trainmen's organization not participating in the strike.

After the meeting numbers of the trainmen, in attendance and eligible for membership in the Switchmen's union went to the meeting in Americus hall, Butler and Forty-third streets. The switchmen say they were initiated into the union and will join the strike.

The strike leaders said last night that they had about 1,000 men on strike, more than the Pittsburgh membership of the union when the strike started. The additions are trainmen and others, either joining the strike or being thrown idle by reason of it.

The meeting of the switchmen yesterday afternoon was open to all railroad men and the hall was packed with about 700 men. In the evening there was another meeting, when about 400 were present. The strikers announced that at the afternoon meeting they had taken 75 men into the union and at the night meeting 48 more.

Substantial Gains Claimed.

Substantial gains of strikers in nearly all of the yards of the district were claimed to have been made yesterday. The strikers said that the Pennsylvania railroad yards are working only under difficulty with incompetent men, that the Pittsburgh yards of this road are practically tied up for business.

An effort will be made to get the men of the Ft. Wayne yards to quit this morning. Reports at the strike headquarters westerday was that all of the regular yard crews of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston had quit and that later three substitute crews, headed by Edward Murray, Charles Pitts and Peter Finif, went to work.

Men attending the meetings from the yards of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie said that most of the men are quitting work. There will be a special meeting of these men at McKees Rocks tonight.

A striking switchman from the Baltimore & Ohio yards said that operations in these yards are tied up except what can be moved by Yardmasters Gallagher and Hurley and Trainmen Fred Fresh, Andrew Martin and F. E. Lease.

Switchmen from the Allegheny Valley road stated that all of the work that is being done in the yards of this line is being conducted by Yardmasters Kerr, Price, Irwin and Rodgers. The Pittsburgh

CHARLES M. SCHWAB ORDERS SILVERWARE FOR PROJECTED PALATIAL NEW YORK HOME.

Charles M. Schwab, the head of the United States Steel Corporation, is preparing to make New York his permanent home. He has just given an order to a prominent firm of jewelers for $10,000 worth of sterling silverware.

The order is said to consist mainly of tableware, and it will be supplemented later by magnificent services of solid plate. The purchase revives public interest in the residence that Mr. Schwab is said to have planned. It will be one of the most palatial in the city. The site at present occupied by an orphans' home, on Riverside drive, overlooking the Hudson, will not be vacated until April 1, 1902. It lies along the most exclusive section of the drive and covers an entire city block.

On an adjoining corner stands the residence of another former Pittsburgher. Mr. and Mrs. William H. Seaight have a beautiful home just across the drive from the Schwab property. Mrs. Seaight was the daughter of Richard G. Burford, the founder of the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph in 1841. Since her marriage she has made New York her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwab are staying at the Holland house, which they make their headquarters at present, their residence in the East End, formerly the Vandergrift residence, being practically closed, though in readiness for the frequent visits made by Mr. Schwab to this city.

During the Horse Show week in New York quite a number of Pittsburgh people were at the Holland, including Mr. and Mrs. Schwab, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Frick, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Peacock and others among the millionaire steel men of Pittsburgh.

Section was said to be working one engine with yardmasters and others.

The switchmen also say that they have the yard operations of the West Penn and the Pittsburgh & Western tied up. Superintendent Dunkle of the Pittsburgh & Western said yesterday that the old switchmen had quit and the work is being done by the road officials and with new men who are coming to take the places of the strikers.

At the meeting of the trainmen yesterday the men that have gone on strike with the switchmen were ordered to go back to work at once or they would be expelled from the organization. Accordingly to the switchmen, over 100 of these went to their meeting and joined the union. Some of the others are supposed to have returned to work.

V. C. Jordan, Pittsburgh district vice president of the United Brotherhood of Railway Employes, which is less than a year old, and takes in all classes of railroad employes, addressed the meeting of the switchmen yesterday afternoon. Mr. Jordan said last night that he had been called to explain why the 3,000 members he claims in the Pittsburgh district did not join the strike. The explanation was that the constitution of the organization does not permit him, the president, nor other officials to call a strike, the object of the organization being to avoid strikes wherever possible. He suggested that if called upon his organization would render its offices toward arbitration.

Officials Take Hopeful View.

Officials of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad said yesterday that they are having their freight moved as well as could be expected under the congestion and with about 15 men short in the yard crews. Allegheny Valley officials admitted that their yard operations are seriously handicapped; that they are doing the best they can with substitute crews. About 40 cots, tables and other living equipment has been stored in the unfinished rooms on the third floor of the Union station. The Pennsylvania officials are making a determined move to fill strikers' places as rapidly as they are vacated.

A number of the leading Pittsburgh shippers yesterday stated that the situation is serious and that mills and furnaces will have to close in a day or two more if the strike is not ended.

A representative of the Carnegie Steel Company said that additional mills would soon have to close if the situation is not relieved. A representative of Jones & Laughlins, limited, said that the strike has proved a pronounced handicap in moving business, but anticipates that it will be of short duration. A representative of the National Tube Company said that the strike was having its effect at the mills of the company, but that there is nothing serious as yet.

The Upper and Lower Union mills of the Carnegie Company were forced to close yesterday. Officials in charge said last night that a resumption may be arranged today. Zug & Co., operating the Sable iron works, were forced to suspend operations yesterday by reason of the freight congestion and the strike. It was reported that a partial shutdown resulted at the Crescent iron works. Forty-ninth street.

Representatives of the Pittsburgh Coal Company say that the strike has added little or nothing to their trouble in getting car service. Shippers generally are taking a lively interest in the situation and are anxious to see the trouble settled.

Grand Master Morrisey and the other officials of the trainmen are about to present a new wage scale to Pittsburgh railroad managers. Their present scale expired this month.

The strike yesterday caused some inconvenience at the yards of the Homestead steel works and Howard axle works and in the West Homestead yards of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad. In the morning a majority of the 30 switchmen employed there failed to work. In the afternoon the places of most of them were filled. Half a dozen of the strikers were employed by the Carnegie Steel Company.

No passenger trains passed Wilmerding between 5:30 and 7 o'clock yesterday evening. The men of the Westinghouse works were there with their Thanksgiving turkeys and there was a lively time over the delay. Under the anxiety of the men the turkeys became troublesome and many a chase for an escaping gobbler occurred.

Relief Expected Soon.

Reports from the Port Perry yards of the Baltimore & Ohio last night are that that yard is completely tied up. Trainmen are trying to relieve the situation and the managers expect to get things moving in a short time.

Four crews of the Bessemer and Union roads are reported to have quit yesterday. With the many crews employed there this is not serious. In the Pitcairn yards all of the old men are said to be working. It is reported that three crews of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and 90 men at McKees Rocks have quit.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad made but little attempt to move any freight locally, although several trains were made up in the Glenwood yards and sent over the "Pike."

In the Allegheny yards no relief was found, and business was practically at a standstill during the whole day. By running crews of yard men and officials of the road a few cars of perishable goods were placed.

At the Pittsburgh & Western yards, at Bennett station, business moved along more smoothly than on Tuesday. Three shifts were working during the morning and two in the afternoon. The Pittsburgh & Western brought about 15 men from Philadelphia early yesterday morning. They were put to work during the day. A crew was also brought from Butler. Three crews were on duty.

Late in the afternoon a full crew asked for reinstatement and were told to report today.

The start at the Glenwood yards yesterday morning showed four crews at work. These shifters did not work long, and before noon two of them were off.

The Baltimore & Ohio officials are authority for the statement that eight trains were made up in the yards yesterday. This, they say, is a remarkably good showing. Generally 15 or 20 trains are made up in these yards every 12 hours.

The Pittsburgh Junction railroad is still tied up and unable to move anything.

At the Allegheny Valley yards at Forty-eighth street, the condition of affairs was unchanged. Three shifting crews were working yesterday, but could accomplish little. No trains were made up in the yards, but several cars of perishable freight were placed. No freight is coming in and none is going out of the yards.

POSTOFFICE TO EVERY FARMER

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—Two subjects fill the major part of Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith's annual report, made public today—abuses in second-class mail matter privilege and rural free delivery.

As a newspaper man as well as the administrator of his department, Mr. Smith's attention was naturally turned to the subject first mentioned. Concerning bogus newspapers and periodicals he makes this startling statement:

The extent of the complicity of the government in these purely private enterprises is not generally realized. The statement will probably be surprising that in the case of hundreds of such publications, where the publisher spends $1,000 in his venture the government spends not less than $2,000 in carrying on that publisher's business, and wherever he puts $100,000 into his running expenses the government puts in not less than $200,000.

The postmaster general would withhold the second-class privilege from advertising sheets, and from books, and would prohibit the return of unsold copies of newspapers at the pound rates.

Bringing Postoffice to Farmers

Concerning rural free delivery Mr. Smith has this to say:

The rural population now receiving daily service is about 4,000,000, and at the end of the fiscal year it will reach 5,709,000. The delivery system will then cover more than a quarter of the eligible portion of the country, and at the present rate of establishment the entire area suited to the service—that is, estimated, 1,000,000 miles of territory, with 21,000,000 of rural residents—will be brought within its scope in less than four years. The mail will then, if the work goes on, be delivered at every door in the United States except in the most remote, mountainous and sparsely settled sections, and in villages of limited receipts where the postoffice is within easy reach.

The policy of rural delivery is no longer a subject of serious dispute. It has unmistakably vindicated itself by its fruits. If the financial results are still undetermined and require greater experience and more complete data before a conclusive jurdgement can be pronounced, the practical benefits and the popular appreciation and demand have been decisively demonstrated. It has been made plain that this service is a potent educational force; that it brings agricultural life into far closer relations with the active business world; that it keeps the farmer in daily touch with markets and prices; that it advances general intelligence through the increased circulation of legitimate journals and periodicals, stimulates correspondence, quickens all interchanges, promotes good roads, enhances farm values, makes farm life less isolated and more attractive, and unites with other wholesome influences in checking and changing the hitherto prevailing current from country to city.

A closer consideration of the material interests involved enforces this conclusion. On an average there are 125 families on a route. Under the old system they traveled from two to four miles in going to the postoffice. If the cost in time and other factors be reckoned at 10 cents a day for each family, it is clearly a moderate estimate. That made an aggregate of $10 a day. The government can deliver the mail at the doors of all for $2. Why shouldn't it do so and save them the larger burden?

The Cost to the Whole Nation.

Extend the calculation to the whole country. There are about 4,000,000 families dependent on the rural service. The aggregate cost to them of going to the postoffice reaches an enormous sum. The government can carry the postoffice to them for a fraction of the amount. Under such circumstances the claim to the service becomes irresistible. It is the business of the government to deliver the mails as far as practicable. The apprehended obstacles to rural delivery have largely vanished with actual experience, and the manifest advantages, now clearly shown, urge the full development of the policy.

Even the fear that the ultimate cost of this service would go far exceed the return due to make it a heavy national burden is sensibly dissipated by the results of the experimental trial. It is demonstrated that the establishment of rural delivery is invariably followed by a large increase of postal receipts; on the other hand, it permits a material retrenchment through the discontinuance of star routes and small postoffices, and the combined effect of the augmented revenue and the considerable savings brings the net cost of the delivery system to proportions which may be regarded without apprehension. The saving during the last fiscal year on star routes thus supurseded was $173,464 41, and on the postoffices discontinued it was $120,221 43. The two together amount to one-sixth of the entire appropriation for this service.

The postmaster general says that while the expenditures in the ordinary development and through various extensions of the service are $7,814,652 88 greater than for the preceding year, the deficit is $1,461,961 22 less. He presents these figures:

Ordinary postal revenue	$109,581,778 67
Receipts from second-class matter	1,668,659 28
Receipts from unpaid money orders more than one year old	430,755 3
Total receipts from all sources	$111,631,193 39
Total expenditures for the year	115,554,920 87
Excess of expenditures over receipts	3,923,727 48

STATE SECRETS ON THE MARKET

A STENOGRAPHER SAID TO HAVE PEDDLED THEM ABOUT.

The Alleged Offender Is Now Under Arrest—Is Charged With Offering to Sell French Ambassador Copy of the Commission's Final Report—Secretary of State Caused Arrest.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Carl H. Hoffman, who was employed as stenographer by the Isthmian canal commission at Washington, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields today charged with stealing government papers. He agreed to return to Washington to stand trial there on the charge, and he will be taken to the national capital this evening.

Hoffman was arrested last night. The charge against him is that on November 19 he stole a copy of the final report of the commission to President Roosevelt. It was charged that Hoffman offered a copy of the canal commission's report to the French ambassador and that another copy was offered to a newspaper.

It is understood here that when Secretary Hay was informed that a state paper was being offered in this city he reported the matter to the United States district attorney's office at Washington and Assistant United States District Attorney Ashley M. Gould of Washington took the case in charge. An investigation was at once begun by the Washington police department. Detective Sergeant Horne being detailed to the case, and a warrant was obtained for Hoffman's arrest. He was last seen in Washington last Monday but disappeared from there, so word was sent to all large cities in the United States to look for him. Detective Horne suspected that Hoffman would come to this city because his parents live here, and he was found by a local detective last night. Horne arrived today and identified the prisoner.

The specific charge against Hoffman is that on the 19th day of November he stole the final report of the canal commission to President Roosevelt. When the complaint was read Hoffman did not answer, but when the commissioner asked him if he wished to waive examination he nodded and consented to go back to Washington. United States Marshal Henkel will take him there Friday.

Hoffman is a married man, his wife being in Washington. He had been in the employ of the canal commission for about eight months. It is alleged that when the commission made reports Hoffman struck them off on the typewriter.

It is also alleged that he struck off more duplicates than were needed and would sell them to such newspapers as would buy them. He, it is alleged in the complaint, had two extra copies of the final report of the commission. Up to the time he was taken to the Ludlow street jail he made no admission and had nothing whatever to say.

WRECK KILLS EMIGRANTS

of No. 4 lay between it and the burning immigrant cars so that but little aid could be rendered to the rescuers.

When the special train bearing the wounded reached Adrian the injured were carried in ambulances, drays and delivery wagons to the hospitals until they were filled, when private residences in the neighborhood were placed in service.

Among the great list of dead only one name is known here at present. This was Miss Dido Dentzed of Tupperville, Ont. She was alive when rescuers reached her and with her expring breath said: "Notify William Moore." That was all.

Detroit Persons Injured.

A special to the Tribune from Adrian gives the following Detroit persons as among the injured: George Sweeney; F. B. Richardson, express messenger of No. 13, head cut and both legs mangled; Mary Dolman, injuries slight; H. B. Whitney, an Ontario railroad dispatcher, seriously injured.

It is estimated that upward of 500 persons were on the two trains.

CLEM STUDEBAKER DEAD.

Celebrated Wagon Manufacturer Passes Away at His Home in South Bend.

SOUTH BEND, IND., Nov. 27.—The Hon. Clement Studebaker died at 11:55 o'clock today. The relatives were at the bedside. He was unconscious to the end. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon. The burial will be private.

The Hon. Clem Studebaker was born in Adams county, Pa., March 12, 1831. When he was four years old his family moved by wagon to Wayne, now Ashland county, Ohio. His father, John Studebaker, was a blacksmith and wagonmaker. In 1850 Clem Studebaker moved to South Bend, where he taught school during the winter of 1850-51. The next spring he secured employment in the blacksmith department of a company manufacturing threshing machines, receiving his board and 50 cents a day. When he first reached South Bend his cash capital amounted to $2.

By careful saving in February, 1852, he was able to start into the blacksmith business with an elder brother, Henry, their stock consisting of two sets of blacksmith tools and $68 in cash. A government contract for a hundred wagons was secured and was executed to the entire satisfaction of the government. This gave the young firm a start, and from that time it grew to its present large proportions. In 1868 the company was incorporated as the Studebaker Brothers Manufacturing Company, with Clem Studebaker as president, which position he has since held.

Mr. Studebaker was for many years a member of the New York Book Concern of the Methodist Episcopal church. He was twice a lay delegate to the general conference of the church, twice a delegate to national Republican conventions, United States commissioner for Indiana to the Paris exposition of 1875, also to the New Orleans exposition, president of the Indiana board of World's Fair managers, a member of the Carriage Builders' National association since its organization and at one time its president, was appointed by President Harrison as a member of the Pan-American congress during the winter of 1889-90, a member of the board of trustees of Depauw university at Greencastle, Ind., president of the Chautauqua Assembly, and once a member of the South Bend common council.

MILLER MAY BE A CANDIDATE

Commander of National Guard May Oppose Elkin for Governor.

STALWARTS WILL MEET SENATOR QUAY

It Is Expected That a Conference Will Be Held in Washington Today at Which State and County Conditions Will Be Discussed.

Maj.-Gen. Charles Miller, commander of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, is being considered by the stalwarts as a prospective candidate for the Republican nomination for governor against Attorney-General John P. Elkin.

Attorney-General Elkin is generally regarded as in league with Gov. Stone, notwithstanding his statement that he did not approve the removal of Recorder A. M. Brown. His failure to resign on the heels of this action has roused the opposition of anti-Stone leaders throughout the State. They do not hesitate to declare that if he should be nominated he will be defeated at the polls owing to the odium attached to the present state administration.

Maj. Gen. Charles Miller.

Gen. Miller's name has sprung into prominence as a opssible candidate against Mr. Elkin and the suggestion of his candidacy has met with considerable encouragement in Western Pennsylvania. Gen. Miller is a resident of Venango county. He is wealthy and is in high standing, not only as a soldier and politician, but as a business man. He is identified with a number of large enterprises and is associated with Congressman John C. Sibley of Franklin, and will get the latter's support. Gen. Miller is a close friend of Senator Quay, who is said to have been mainly instrumental in bringing about the appointment of Gen. Miller to the command of the national guard.

A conference is expected to take place in Washington, D. C., today that will likely have a wide effect upon state politics. Thomas S. Bigelow, leader of the stalwarts of Allegheny county, will meet Senator Quay to discuss the political situation here and throughout the state. After this conference Senator Quay is expected to make an important announcement regarding his attitude toward Gov. Stone and Attorney-General Elkin's candidacy.

Maj. A. M. Brown does not place much confidence in the declaration of Mr. Elkin that he was opposed to the recorder's removal. Maj. Brown said last night that he had been shown a letter, written to one of his friends by Attorney General Elkin. It was evasive and very unsatisfactory.

Dr. J. Guy McCandless' appointment as director of the department of public works has eliminated him as a possible organization candidate for congress in the new downtown district. Dr. McCandless admitted this yesterday.

Dr. McCandless said he favored the nomination of Samuel C. Jamison as his successor in common council from the Eighth ward. M. G. Leslie is making an active canvass to succeed Dr. McCandless as president of common council, but some of the organization members do not favor him. They believe a more conservative man is required for the position. Councilman W. A. Magee can be elected president if he will accept.

The stalwarts are considering the plan of running Councilman R. H. Douglas of the Twenty-first ward for controller against Joseph E. Lewis and appointing Andrew Fulton to conduct his campaign. If Mr. Douglas consents to make the race for Controller Common Councilman George W. McNeil will be chosen by the stalwarts as their candidate for select council against J. M. Clark. Charles A. Finley, chairman of the Twenty-first ward orgsnization, will be one of the stalwart candidates for common council.

Joseph H. May declared yesterday that he was not against the Allegheny city-hall organization and said that the time had not come to consider his chances of being a candidate for city recorder. He intimated that if he is a candidate at all it will be with the city hall support.

At a meeting of taxpayers and property holders of the Nineteenth ward Monday evening the name of John J. Davis, ex-assistant city controller, was mentioned for common council. A committee was appointed to call on Mr. Davis and request that he allow his name to go before the people as the Republican candidate. The committee will report at a meeting to be held next week.

STONE GOING TO MEXICO.

A Party of State Officials and Wives to Visit Many Places.

HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 27.—Gov. Stone and a small party of state officials and their wives will leave Harrisburg next Tuesday in a special car for a trip to Mexico. They will visit New Orleans, San Antonio, the City of Mexico, Los Angeles and San Francisco and will be gone about three weeks.

The party will be composed of Gov. and Mrs. Stone, Secretary of the Commonwealth and Mrs. Griest, Banking Commissioner and Mrs. Reeder, Public Buildings Superintendent and Mrs. Eyre, Executive Clerk Rodgers and James M. Auter, messenger in the executive department.

Official Changes.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 27.—The following changes in the staff of the Baltimore & Ohio railway were officially announced here today:

J. C. Stuart, general superintendent of the middle and northwestern divisions, is appointed general superintendent of transportation, vice William Gibson, retired.

DAY OF THANKS WILL BE JOYOUS

CLEAR, COLD WEATHER HAS BEEN PROMISED BY FORECASTER.

Interesting Services Will Be Held in Churches and Special Programs Have Been Arranged for Them. Devotees of Golf and Football Will Find Much to Employ Their Time During the Day.

Pittsburgh will awake this morning to find a clear and cold Thanksgiving. In his vantage point at the government building the weather man came to this conclusion last night. He frankly admitted that if he could have had his way he would have had a snow storm to complete the beauties of the day. The fates were not propitious, however, and he submitted.

There is a possibility that there may be snow after all before the day is over. At 8 o'clock last night snows were falling in the Ohio valley. Pittsburgh may share in the fall.

The forecast is as follows: "The high pressure area with low temperature and fair conditions should prevail in Pittsburgh and vicinity during the next 24 hours."

The day will be a joyous one in the two cities. Rare prosperity has engendered heartfelt thanksgivings in every walk in life. From the church services of the morning, through dinner and until the football games of the afternoon are over peace and happiness will abound.

The church services of the day will be of unusual interest. Special music and appropriate decorations will be features of them. More union services than have been held in the past have been arranged and not a half dozen congregations in the entire county will have no season of worship.

The athletically inclined find their interest centering in the football contest between the Homestead stars and Washington and Jefferson college. The crowd at Exposition park promises to be the greatest for many seasons. Throughout the two cities teams of every age and weight will meet on a score of grounds.

Devotees of the ancient and royal game of "gowff" will turn their attention to the Edgewood, Westmoreland and Highland courses. A peculiar state of affairs exists at the Logans Ferry links of the Westmoreland club. Puckety creek has taken matters into its own hands and only three holes, the first, eighth and ninth, can be used. The bridges leading to the others have been washed away and none of the club members care enough for the sport to swim between drives. A sweepstakes will be played on the three available holes.

Three cups will be played for on the Edgewood course. Trophies offered by J. F. Guffey and F. X. Barr will go to the lowest net and the lowest gross score for 18 holes, medal play. A third cup, offered by W. G. Wurzell, will be played for against "Col. Bogey."

An 18-hole handicap for the Lawrence Phipps cup will be decided at Highland. The trophy must be won twice for possession. It has been taken so far by George Ormison, Dr. Carl Emmerlein, S. J. Graham and G. P. Elkins, the latter now holding it.

The city parks will attract many visitors today. Although the chrysanthemum show is over, Phipps conservatory will well repay a visit. The art galleries and museum at Carnegie Institute will be open from 2 to 6 p. m. The zoo will be, as it always is, a point of interest to thousands.

Passenger traffic on all the local railroads was unusually heavy last night. It will be as heavy during the early morning hours today. In and outbound passengers were about equally divided and trains were rather more than comfortably full, despite the addition of extra cars.

Following out its usual custom the Westinghouse interests gave away nearly 12,500 turkeys to their employes at Wilmerding, East Pittsburgh, Swissvale and Pittsburgh. At East Pittsburgh 6,000 fowls were distributed, at Wilmerding 4,000 and at Swissvale 1,650, the remainder going to the men at the other plants. More than 150,000 pounds of meat were given away in the distribution.

ARREST ENDS ROMANCE.

Hungarian Army Officer Traveling With Gypsy Girl in Custody as an Embezzler.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Joseph Aros, an officer in the army reserves and bookkeeper of the Bank of Murkacs, Hungary, has been arrested here at the instance of Austro-Hungarian authorities, charged with the embezzlement of 23,000 kronen, about $5,000, part in cash and part in Austrian government bonds.

Aros left Murkacs October 26 last and arrived at this port Tuesday on the Zeeland from Antwerp. With him was a young woman whose name in the description sent out was Agnes Galambosa, a gypsy girl, said to be the cousin of Rizo, who eloped with the Princess Chimay. They were on the cabin list as Johann Onodi and Mrs. Galambosa Onodi. When searched at Ellis island it was found that they had over $5,000 between them. They first denied their identity, but when brought before the board of special inquiry confessed. Aros subsequently surrendered all the money to the Austrian consul here.

To avoid delay and the expense of extradition proceedings the board of special inquiry ordered Aros' deportation on the ground of being a fugitive from justice. The woman will be shipped back to Antwerp, because she is liable to become a public charge.

To Take Her Back to Boston.

Police Inspector William Cleary of Boston arrived here yesterday with a requisition and copy of indictment against Rhoda Reade, the young woman arrested here on a charge of larceny of several hundred dollars worth of jewels from a Boston woman. Inspector Cleary stated that her companion, H. L. Foster, a Harvard graduate and a broker, is now locked up. The young woman is now in the Homeopathic hospital with the grip, and cannot be removed before Sunday.

HAMILTON'S

Thoughts of Christmas and of the

A. B. CHASE PIANO

Here's a suggestion: Whether you are a father, brother, or friend of some one who loves music, there is no gift you can select that would convey such a graceful compliment as a piano. It fulfills every expectation of pleasure giving—that is, if the instrument be a perfect one. Such a piano is the A. B. Chase. After a careful survey of the whole field of possible gifts, we firmly believe the A. B. Chase piano more fully realizes the ideal of gift articles than anything else.

The satisfaction of presenting such a gift lies in the fact that the more fastidious the recipient the more appreciative he (or she) is sure to be.

BONINE TRIAL LIKE A CIRCUS

Crier Strips to the Waist to Illustrate Pension Clerk Ayres' Wounds.

PISTOL FIRED IN COURT TO PROVE A POINT

Deputy Coroner the Principal Showman of the Day in the Bonine Case—Testimony Seems to Prove Wounds Not Self-Inflicted.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—In the Bonine murder trial to-day a remarkable scene was presented when Court Crier Joyce, stripped to the waist, stood on an elevated platform for half an hour while Dr. Glazebrook, the deputy coroner, used his figure to illustrate the location and direction of the pistol shot wounds in the body of James S. Ayres. The prosecution had endeavored to illustrate these wounds by a papier mache figure borrowed from the medical museum, but the defense objected.

When Court Crier Joyce entered the room he was stripped and the examination by Glazebrook began. The witness placed upon the breast and arm of the abashed court crier pieces of black court plaster to show where the bullets had entered, and then, in legal phraseology, described the direction of the bullets, and particularly the one entering the chest, which had passed through the right lung, through the pericardium, through the large vein which carries blood from the upper portion of the heart, through the right windpipe and stopped an inch below the apex of the right lung.

The most important point in Dr. Glazebrook's testimony was that he was confident, from experiments which he had made, that Ayres could not have inflicted the wounds upon himself with the pistol found in the room. This affects the confession of Mrs. Bonine, that the pistol was discharged while in Ayres' hand during a struggle between herself and the man for its possession.

Experimented on His Own Body.

The witness explained that he had tried with the pistol to place the weapon with his right hand in such a position as to inflict such wounds, but he could do it for only two of them, and then only by pushing the trigger with his thumb.

He described experiments he had made to show at what distance shots must be fired to leave powder marks similar to those peppering the wounds. He fired several shots with the pistol found in Ayres' room at squares of unbleached cloth. The first shot was fired with the muzzle of the pistol directly against the cloth, and the others at the distances of 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16 and 24 inches. Judging from the results of his experiments the witness was prepared to testify that the bullet that caused the wound in Ayres' thigh was fired at a distance of more than two feet.

Based upon the same reasons, the witness concluded that the bullet that caused the wound in the arm was fired from a distance of more than eight inches. The experimental cloth fired upon from a distance of 14 inches more closely resembled that portion of the cloth adjacent to the wound in the arm than any of the other cloths. The pistol, so the witness concluded, was within eight inches of the breast when the bullet that caused the wound there was fired. According to Dr. Glazebrook, the muzzle of the pistol was probably in contact with the sleeve of the shirt that was burned when the bullet that caused the wound in the chest was fired, that arm being upraised at the time.

Court Plaster to Locate Wounds.

With a tape line Dr. Glazebrook made measurements on Mr. Joyce and indicated by black court plaster the relative spots where the bullets entered Ayres' body.

Dr. Glazebrook described a visit he made to Mrs. Bonine in jail soon after the tragedy. He went in his official capacity to examine Mrs. Bonine for injuries or bruises. During the examination Mrs. Bonine illustrated in part the relative positions of Ayres and herself when, according to her story, the fatal shots were fired. The witness was told by the defendant that Ayres was behind her, with his left arm around his right hand, holding the pistol, was advanced in front of her. She grasped the hand holding the pistol in both her hands and showed the witness a slight wound on one finger, which she said she received at that time. "Just at this time," said the witness, "the defendant checked herself, saying that she should not have said anything to him about how the shooting occurred."

"Could Mr. Ayres have received these wounds while he and Mrs. Bonine were in the relative positions she described to you?" inquired Mr. Gould.

"I do not see how it would have been possible," answered the pistol witness.

Eliza Gardiner, a colored chambermaid, said she had charge of Ayres' room and had never seen a pistol there. One morning in February Mrs. Bonine was ill in bed, and asked her to go to Ayres' room, and, without letting him know that she sent, say "that Mrs. Bonine was quite ill and that she thought a little whisky would do her good." This the chambermaid did, and Ayres, who was reading a book, paid no attention to her. On cross-examination the witness said Ayres told her to try to get the whisky from some one else.

Two colored women in the employ of the hotel testified to visits paid by Mrs. Bonine to Ayres' room.

Johnson A. Hopper, a government clerk, said John A. Taff and Michael A. Kane, employed in the postoffice, said they were in the part who drank with Ayres the night of the murder. They agreed that Ayres was sober, having taken only two small glasses of beer.

BACK INTO THE FOLD.

Father Crowley Repents and Ban of the Church Will Soon Be Recalled.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Announcement was made today by Thomas A. Moran, attorney for the Rev. Archbishop Feehan, that the sentence of excommunication which was pronounced against Father Jeremiah J. Crowley would be recalled within a few days. This is expected to put an end to the case against the deposed priest, and the injunction proceedings begun against him to prevent his worship in the Cathedral of the Holy Name will be withdrawn.

Some days ago Father Crowley addressed a communication to his eminence, Cardinal Martinelli. This led to a further consideration of the matter by the cardinal with the result that Father Crowley again addressed his eminence as follows:

Your Eminence: To save the honor of our beloved church and to repair the scandal I may have given to our faithful Catholic people, I sincerely regret whatever I may have said disrespectful to your eminence and to the most reverend archbishop of Chicago, and I also retract anything I may have either said or written which could not be approved by the Catholic church.

The cardinal thereupon further advised with the archbishop, and as soon as the details are attended to, which will be within a few days, the sentence of excommunication which was pronounced against Father Crowley will be recalled.

TOLD OF CRIME IN HIS SLEEP

DELIRIUM OF ALLEGED TRAIN ROBBER LEADS TO HIS ARREST.

Prisoner Admits Participation in the Great Northern Hold-Up at Malta, Mont.—Says He Has $12,000 Buried—Hanging May Be His Fate if Convicted—Ben Kilpatrick's Lawyer Constructs Clever Defense.

GREAT FALLS, MONT., Nov. 27.—Talking in his sleep may bring Bob Collins, said to be one of the Great Northern train robbers, to the gallows. It is alleged that Collins, while under the influence of an opiate, raved about the robbery which was committed July 3 last near Malta, this state. He unconsciously betrayed a knowledge of the affair which could only be possessed by one of the participants in the crime. His talk may cost him his life, as the crime of train robbery is punishable in this state with death.

Collins, who is believed to be O. C. Hanks, alias Camilla Hank, alias Deaf Charlie, a partner of Harry Longbaugh, Kid Curry and George Parker, who are believed to have committed the robbery, was arrested today at Neihart by Deputy Sheriff Ledbetter.

Collins does not confess his identity, but admits he helped to rob the train and that he has $12,500 buried. When Longbaugh was arrested at St. Louis Collins became very nervous and finally had to go to bed. A physician was called and gave him a hypodermic injection to quiet him. In the sleep and delirium which followed Collins raved about Longbaugh and the robbery. When he recovered he was thrown constantly in the companionship of a man provided by the authorities, who succeeded in getting a full confession.

The plot to rob the train, said Collins, was made by him and Longbaugh and Curry on the second floor of a saloon in this city. Longbaugh made the proposition to him and he accepted it and was in constant association with him and his pals until after the booty was secured and divided. Collins will be brought here tomorrow.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 27.—Former Gov. Charles P. Johnson, a noted criminal lawyer, has been employed by Ben Kilpatrick, who is under arrest here charged with having in his possession forged bills on the National bank of Helena and who is suspected of complicity in the robbery of a Great Northern train near Wagner, Mont., last July, when the bills in question were stolen from the express car. Kilpatrick talked freely to his attorney and a defense has been planned.

"We will have a strong defense on all of the charges," said Mr. Johnson. "The charges of forging will not stay, for there is no forgery. The names of the bank officers were not written thereon. The names written were purely fictitious.

"And the banknotes he had in his possession signed by these fictitious names are not United States obligations, for the fact that the correct names of the officials of the bank are required to make them government obligations.

"The bills found in the possession of Kilpatrick that were unsigned cannot be termed United States obligations, for they lack the signatures to make them money. In fact, we will be able to make a very fair defense."

THEIR RIGHT TO CARRY FREIGHT TO BE TESTED.

Bills in Equity Against United, Consolidated and Pittsburgh Express Companies Filed.

HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Bills in equity against the United Traction Company and the Pittsburgh Express Company in one case, and the Consolidated Traction Company and the Pittsburgh Express Company in another case, were filed today in the Dauphin county court. The commonwealth is the plaintiff in both cases and is represented by Attorney General Elkin. With Elkin are associated as special counsel Patterson, Sterrett & Acheson of Pittsburgh.

The papers in the first case aver that the transportation of freight over the street railways operated by the United Traction Company is unlawful and that any contract or combination existing between that company and the Pittsburgh Express Company is illegal. It is averred, further, that the traction company has been transporting freight between Pittsburgh and McKeesport and other boroughs under an arrangement with the express company.

The plaintiff alleges that the express company is without lawful power or authority to enter into any contract or arrangement with the traction company to carry freight over its system, and prays that both defendants be restained from carrying freight over the street railways included in the system.

The bill against the Consolidated Traction Company and the Pittsburgh Express Company covers the same grounds and makes similar allegations as to alleged misuse of corporate power and franchises.

The news that the suits had been filed was a surprise to the officials of the interested companies. None of them would discuss the litigation, however. James D. Callery, president of the United Traction Company, said he could not comment on the action until he had read the bills and knew who was at the back of the movement. The Pittsburgh Express Company is made up of men heavily interested in the traction interests of the city. M. K. McMullin is one of the principal stockholders, although the stock is well distributed.

Another Great Industry

To Boom West Park!

For the benefit of home-seekers and investors the following announcement is made: The Ft. Pitt Malleable and Gray Iron Company's contract for an immense new mill to be located within a stone's throw of West Park will cause a march of thousands to that district. This great plant will give employment to 650 men, who, with their families, must find a place to live close to their work. They'll have to come to West Park, and the population of that thriving community will be increased by 2,500 souls. The newcomers are of the very highest class of skilled mechanics. By the terms of the contract, the big plant must be completed before March 1—on that day operations will be begun and that great army of workmen will have found homes. Do you realize that if you're going to help other shrewd investors provide homes for this multitude, you can't afford to delay? Remember that you have only three short months—90 days—and that every one of these hours is precious to you. These are the officers of the new company that looks to West Park for homes for its employes: President, J. C. Reilly; vice president, M. J. McMahon; secretary and treasurer, F. J. Lanahan; manager, E. S. Reilly. Board of directors—J. C. Reilly, H. G. O'Brien, C. F. Holdship, John M. Ryan, E. S. Reilly, Frank J. Lanahan.

At a meeting of the Directors of the City Trust Company, held November 27, 1901, the following minute was adopted:

Patrick Kane died at his home in this city on the 25th day of November, 1901.

He was a Director of the City Trust Company at the time of his death; had been since its organization, and for upward of 20 years had been actively identified as Director with the City Savings Bank, City National Bank and the City Bank, institutions that preceded the City Trust Company. The services rendered by him to those various institutions were almost invaluable. He was a useful citizen; a man of ripe experience, excellent judgment and of the highest personal character. In his death the whole community has suffered a great loss.

By order of the Board.

JOHN W. TAYLOR,
Secretary.

Gave Up Lover for Prize-fighter—Many Cars Are Needed

CONNELLSVILLE CAR SHORTAGE

Scarcity of Rolling Stock Causes Trouble for Coke Manufacturers in Fayette County--In Spite of This the Output Is Nearly as Great as That of Last Winter.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—On the coke situation here the Courier will say tomorrow: "Coke production in the Connellsville region last week showed very little change from that of the previous week. While the car supply was reported to be some better in sections, the improvement was not evident to some of the smaller operators in the region. For instance, the Bourne works of the Wharton Furnace Company only in two days. Sixteen cars were all they were furnished for the output of the week.

"At several other works the shortage is not in evidence in the week's report because the product was stocked on the yards. However, the output was not so far short of the estimated tonnage. More coke is being made than ever before in the Connellsville region. The figures about equal the record-breaking weekly production made last winter and spring, and they are bobbing up better week after week.

"The Courier's detailed report of the operation and output of the region for the week ending Saturday, November 30, shows a total of 21,833 ovens, of which 9,942 are active and 1,981 are idle. Compared with the lists of the previous week, there was practically no change in the producing capacity of the region. The estimated tonnage for the week was 236,527 tons, compared with 236,155 tons the previous week, a gain of 372 tons. The Continental plants in the southern end of the region were compelled to lay off one day on account of a break in the water main supplying them from the Monongahela river. Shipments for the week aggregated 10,204 cars, distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river tipples, 3,494 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 4,911 cars; to points east of Connellsville, 1,799 cars."

CARDS CAUSED DOWNFALL.

Beaver Chief of Police Forced to Resign for Participating in a Fatal Game of Chance.

BEAVER, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the borough council last night Chief of Police Charles Fish, who was playing cards Saturday night and Sunday morning with Harry W. McGee in Bridgewater, where McGee was killed by Leroy Evans, colored, resigned his position.

His request to be allowed to hold his position to the end of the month was ignored and his resignation was unanimously accepted, to take effect at once. This morning he delivered up his policeman's badge and mace and was paid off in full.

After the Pennsylvania Co.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 27.—A petition in mandamus was filed in the Ohio supreme court to require a redistribution of the valuation for taxation of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad. The relator is a taxpayer of Tuscarawas county, who claims that the road should be valued as a part of the main line of the Pennsylvania system at $105,460 instead of being valued as a branch at $31,262.

Safety Pin Proved Harmless.

ASHTABULA, O., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Paul Reed Kennedy, seven-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kennedy, today expelled from his stomach a safety pin accidentally dropped into mouth four months ago while receiving a bath. The child was never sick a day from having swallowed it.

Sleighing at Ashtabula.

ASHTABULA, O., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The first sleighing of the season in Ashtabula was enjoyed today. Snow fell throughout last night and it is still falling. Fish tugs were unable, on account of the storm, to get out to their nets which are set and waiting to be lifted.

DYNAMITE MYSTERY IS NOW EXPLAINED

Former Employe of the Northern Central Arrested for Causing Wreck.

YORK, PA., Nov. 27.—The mystery surrounding the dynamiting of the western express on the Northern Central railway on the night of November 15 was cleared up this evening when detectives on the case arrested Henry Hoover for the crime. Hoover was a former employe of the road and resides with his family within 300 yards of the scene of the attempted wrecking. He quit the employ of the road because of a disagreement with his foreman, which resulted in a law suit. On losing the suit he threatened to get even. Since then he has been employed by a blaster and became familiar with the use of dynamite. George W. Vernes of Williamsport, captain of the Northern central and Philadelphia & Erie railroad police, who had charge of the detectives in the case, is of the opinion that malice and not robbery was the motive for the crime. He is satisfied that sufficient evidence has been secured to guarantee a conviction. Hoover has been placed in jail to await a hearing.

CREW RESCUED FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH

Taken from a Wrecked American Schooner in Mid-Atlantic by London Steamer Vera.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The London steamship Vera, Capt. Bennett, from Huelva, Spain, came into port this afternoon having on board Capt. Crawford and seven survivors of the American schooner Standard, which was pounded to pieces by the storm of Saturday night.

For 19 days and nights these men manned the pumps without ceasing, but when Saturday's storm broke over them in their partially disabled condition, it ripped out the vessel's masts like pipestems, smashed her lifeboats and tore open her decks. The fresh water supply had become almost exhausted, and with parched lips and heavy limbs they clung for 40 hours to the top of the after-house, scanning the horizon for some passing craft.

One vessel, apparently an English tramp steamship, passed within hailing distance of them Sunday morning, but paid not the slightest attention to their frantic signals. Hope had almost been abandoned when the Vera hove in sight Monday. One of her boats was smashed to atoms in the attempt to launch it. Another was soon let down, and in it were the chief officer, the boatswain and five seamen. The heavy sea made it impossible to get closer than within two feet of the wrecked schooner. The crew jumped one by one into the arms of the rescuing party, and soon were landed safely on the Vera's decks.

The Standard sailed from Savannah, Ga., Nov. 8, bound for New York, with a full cargo and deck load of yellow pine lumber. She sprung a leak the first day out.

BOLD FIRE BUGS AT WORK.

Citizens of Huntingdon Terrorized by Many Fires Caused by Organized Band.

HUNTINGDON, PA., Nov. 27.—Property owners and citizens in general in this place are experiencing a veritable reign of terror from the unrestricted operations of an apparently well organized gang of incendiaries whose chief aim is robbery.

Early this morning four incendiary fires were started within an hour of each other. Four barns were burned, William O'Mara's cabinet manufactory was partly destroyed, and fires were started in the homes of Frank Barr and Mrs. John Swivel.

The citizens are so terrorized over the boldness of the incendiaries that efforts will be at once made to secure the services of skilled detectives.

Beaver's Team Beaten.

BEAVER, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—A hotly contested game of basketball was played here this evening in Beaver college gymnasium, between the Allegheny City team and Beaver college team, resulting in a victory for Allegheny, 29 to 26. Churchill and Reed did the star playing for Allegheny, while Robinson and Bonner carried off the Beaver honors.

HE WAS JILTED FOR A PUGILIST

Young Woman of Frostburg, on the Eve of Her Marriage With Another Man, Weds a Prize Fighter in Cumberland—Her First Love Was Not Notified.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Last Saturday William R. Bowen, a prominent young man of Frostburg, came here and secured a license to marry Miss Ida J. Smith, a stenographer. The ceremony was to have been performed last night at Eckraht, this county. Monday Miss Smith left her home and came here to make some purchases, met Edward Jones, a pugilist of Philadelphia, who has been employed a short while as dyer in Foster's dying establishment, and the couple were at once married and left on a train for Philadelphia, where they will reside.

Young Brown knew nothing of what had occurred, and last night went to the home of his intended, where he found a minister and the united guests, but no bride. The family as well as the groom were at a loss to know why the girl had not returned, but while they were wondering, an afternoon Cumberland paper was left at the Smith home, which contained a notice of the marriage of Miss Smith to Mr. Jones. This was the first intimation the girl's parents had of what happened. The intended groom was very much put out and had he come across the pugilist, would doubtless have given him a chance to display his powers. Jones has a brother on the stage.

CAR SHOPS AT NEW CASTLE.

Ground Broken Yesterday for Large Round House and Car Plant—Improvements Are Extensive.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 27.—Ground was broken today for the erection at New Castle Junction of large car shops and a roundhouse. The shops at DeForest are to be dismantled and removed to this point, which is to be made one of the chief division points. Much of the machinery from DeForest is now standing on the siding here.

The roundnouse will have 17 stalls. Fully 75 men have been removed to this place from other points, and more than 200 others will come to work in the new shops. Many new houses are now projected to supply the urgent demand, but they will not be ready for several months yet and boarding-house keepers are reaping a golden harvest.

The Pittsburgh & Western will relieve the demand by building a large hotel at New Castle Junction. The new hotel will be three stories in height and contain 50 sleeping apartments. The junction is three miles from this city. The plans of the road are the most extensive railroad improvement announced in years for this locality.

FURNACE WORKERS MEET.

Elect Officers for the Coming Year. The Headquarters of the Union Will Be in Youngstown.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The first annual convention of the blast furnace workers was ended today. The officers of the union elected are as follows: James McMahon of Struthers, president; Michael McGlynn of Struthers, first vice president; W. J. Clark of Buffalo, second vice president; Bert Gershel of Columbus, third vice president; G. H. Vanmeter of South Pittsburg, Tenn., fourth vice president; G. L. Mullen of Lowellville, secretary, and Thomas McGlurkin of Girard, treasurer.

The national trustees are Allen Matthews of Lowellville, James Tighe, Jr., of Brier Hill and Joseph Zeller of Girard. The headquarters of the organization will be in Youngstown.

Coal Famine Threatened.

CORRY, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—This city is threatened with a soft coal famine, as the dealers have none and the factories are all short.

SCRANTON STRIKERS GO BACK TO WORK

Five More Street Car Men Returned to Their Cars Yesterday.

SCRANTON, PA., Nov. 27.—Five more of the street car strikers returned to work today, and with the one who returned last week made up a full complement of crews for the Petersburg line.

Four of the five were suspended from the union last Thursday pending an investigation of the charges that they were furnishing information to the company. The sixth man made a clean break from the strikers' ranks. General Manager Silliman says 20 more men will be back in a day or two.

The strikers have taken to giving vaudeville entertainments at all the towns in the county where they can get a hall. In their ranks are good singers, jig dancers, and the like, and they give a very creditable performance. Tonight they had an audience of 700 at Webers rink, in Taylor.

LIMITS DEFINED.

Philadelphia Judge Prohibits Trades Council to Interfere With Workmen Not Allied With Them.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—Judge McCarthy of the common pleas court has issued an injunction against the council of the allied building trades forbidding the council or its agents to instigate strikes at buildings where contractors employ labor that is not affiliated with that organization.

Judge McCarthy also denied the right of the defendants to order contractors to discharge members of labor organizations that are not affiliated with the council of the Allied Building Trades. Further, and specifically, he ordered them to refrain from threats, expressed or implied, that employers would suffer loss by hiring the plaintiffs.

The injunction proceeding was brought by Erdman and others. Until April 22 last the plaintiffs had been employed for many years by a local plumbing firm. Under threat of a strike General Contractors Wells & Wells of Chicago had the plaintiffs removed from a building in course of erection. The plaintiffs were members of the plumbers' league, an organization not affiliated with the building trades council, and their places were taken by "United Association" plumbers, who were members of the building trades council. The case will probably be taken to a higher court.

PLANT STILL UNPAID FOR.

New Castle Firm's Difficulties Cause Trouble for Akron Business Men.

AKRON, O., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The appointment of a receiver for the Hartman Manufacturing Company of New Castle, Pa., has brought trouble upon Akron people who recently sold the two plants of the Cuyahoga Falls Wire & Steel Co. to the Hartman concern. Two suits for $10,000 each were today filed in the court here against the company, the plaintiffs being the First National Bank of Sharon, Pa., and the First National Bank of Toledo.

It is understood that but one-half of the purchase price of the Cuyahoga Falls Wire & Steel Co. had been paid, and besides this many of the local stockholders retained their holdings of stock. The transfer was made less than a month ago.

TIME LIMIT HAS EXPIRED.

List of Campaign Expenses of Ohio Republicans Not Yet Filed With the Secretary of State.

AKRON, O., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Gen. Charles Dick, chairman of the Republican state executive committee, did not appear to be much worried today when his attention was called to the fact that the limit allowed by the Garfield law had expired and the expenses of the late campaign had not been filed with the secretary of state.

Gen. Dick called attention to the fact that the law provides that if five freeholders sign a demand for the expenses to be filed within the time limit and the report is not filed then a fine may be imposed.

"The final touches are now being put on the report," said the general, "and it will be filed Friday." Gen. Dick will leave b e filed Friday." Gen. Dick will leave for Washington Thursday afternoon after eating his Thanksgiving dinner at home.

Pitcairn Rooters Will Be There.

MT. PLEASANT, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The local football season will close tomorrow afternoon, when the Tigers and Pitcairn will come together. The Pitcairn team is considered a very strong one, and as the locals want to finish the season with a clean record, a warm contest is assured. Word comes from Pitcairn that 150 shouters will accompany the team. Fully 4,000 people are expected to witness the game. The teams will line up as follows:

Mt. Pleasant.		Pitcairn.

State's Eleven Disbands.

BELLEFONTE, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The state colleges football team broke training last night and disbanded. Owing to the University of Buffalo having canceled the game for tomorrow and State being unable to secure a game elsewhere. Ralph T. Cummings was elected captain for next year's team. Cummings is a 1903 man and hails from Cape May, N. J. His preliminary football work was at the Bellefonte academy.

Bookkeeper Laurie Marks Charged With Being the Cause of Bank Bookkeeper Goudie's Downfall. Hunted Man Said to Have Drowned Himself.

(Copyright, 1901, New York Herald.)

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The search for Goudie, the missing Liverpool bank bookkeeper, and his associates, took on a sensational phase yesterday. Immediately after Goudie's dishonesty became known police inquiries developed the fact that his transactions in London had been done—in part, at least—through a well-known American bookmaker.

Though there was nothing to show that this bookmaker, Laurie Marks, was aware of the source from which Goudie obtained the big sums he wagered, or that the checks he sent were forged, still the police determined to take into their custody, temporarily at least, the bookmaker and his associates. On Saturday Marks left London for the continent.

On Monday the fact that a warrant was out for his arrest became known to his friends. His brother, who arrived in England from America about a week ago, telegraphed to him in Paris. On Tuesday a telegram was received in London from Marks, who said he would leave Paris that morning and would arrive at Charing Cross at 5:50 p. m.

According to the story given out by the police, an officer was dispatched to Folkstone to meet the boat, the Mabel Grace, but on its arrival Marks was not on board. A bag, which is supposed to belong to him and which contained a letter in which he intimated his intention of committing suicide, was found on the boat. The supposition was, of course, that Marks had committed suicide, but the officers of the boat and police at Folkstone scout the idea. The baggage, which was taken possession of by the police, together with some other articles, contained £60 in gold and a check for $500. The police are still watching channel passengers at Folkstone and Dover in the hope of catching either Goudie or some of his suspected accomplices, for whom warrants have been issued.

A dispatch from Liverpool, however indicates the police suspect that Goudie has committed suicide there. Several persons say they saw a young man answering his description loitering about the Canning dock last Thursday afternoon. No one saw him leave the place, and the police think he hid himself till dark and then jumped into the water.

More than $350,000 in one bank in London was placed to the credit of Marks and his associates, all of which is supposed to have been part of Goudie's operations and has been seized by order of the court.

THE FIRST AMERICAN CHURCH IN GERMANY

Mrs. Cleveland Treasurer of Fund—Many Distinguished People Assist.

(SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.)

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—With a splendid silver trowel presented by the kaiser's court jeweler, Ambassador White, in the presence of a large American colony, will on Thursday lay the corner stone of the first American church reared on German soil. The pastor, the Rev. Mr. Dickies, will in the commemoratory sermon make public for the first time the names of the distinguished Americans, dead and living, who participated in the establishment.

The name of Mrs. Grover Cleveland is accorded special honor as treasurer of the American committee which raised $80,000 toward the building fund. Copies of the American newspapers are in the corner-stone box.

George Bancroft presided at the initial meeting of the congregation in 1870, and Elihu Root, who was a student in Berlin, served as first secretary. President Hadley of Yale, Prof. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton, and Theodore S. Fay will be present at the corner stone ceremonies.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION IS FAVORED BY ARGENTINE

Significant Statement Bearing on That Country's Relations With Chile.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—At today's session of the Pan-American congress the Argentine delegation presented a long report showing what the Argentine Republic had done with a view to carrying out the recommendation of the first conference, held in Washington, 11 years ago. The report is a comprehensive review of the resources of Argentine, the part which attracted most attention being the chapter dwelling with arbitration. The Argentine delegates declare themselves in favor of compulsory arbitration for all questions, pending and future. They make an allusion to South American controversies when they say:

"There are real difficulties menacing, conflicts pending, questions in a word, which refuse to be put out of sight, and those questions the second Pan-American conference must consider and solve in a lofty spirit of justice under penalty of failing absolutely in one of the fundamental purposes of its existence."

This declaration attracted great attention, inasmuch as Chile had stipulated as a condition sine qua non for participating in the conference that the consideration of arbitration was to be confined to future questions only and said that her delegates would withdraw from the conference if any attempt were made to give a different turn to the discussion of that subject.

The Argentine delegates' report affirmed that their country has no wrongs to avenge.

BOYCOTT IDEA NOT IN FAVOR

French Dockers Pronounce the Project to Fight British Vessels Noble, but Chimerical—An Amsterdam Delegation Coming to America to Agitate.

(SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.)

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Delegates from the Amsterdam dockers who desire to effect a general boycott of English vessels in the ports of the civilized world have just left America-ward, with the intention of drawing a glowing picture of what has been accomplished in Europe in order to persuade co-operation of the longshoremen at the Atlantic seaports.

As a matter of fact, the chimeric plan has not met with the slightest support by the dockers' organization. Most of the ports agree that the boycott, while praiseworthy, would interfere too seriously with the livelihood of the workmen, as a large majority of the ships entering German ports are carrying the British flag. French ports like Havre, Marseilles, Boulogne, La Rochelle, Dunkirk and Bordeaux, from which the strongest co-operation was hoped for on account of the fierce anti-British feeling, all finally reply about as follows:

"The project is noble but quixotic and impractical."

M. Fuuillade, treasurer of the chamber of commerce at Boulogne, writes to The Gazette correspondent: "It would inevitably paralyze the life at all of the French ports if such a measure, even temporarily, should be enforced, besides working more injustice to continental manufacturers and agriculturists than harm to the British commerce. Moreover, many vessels bearing flags of other nations are really British. Thus, the whole idea belongs to the domain of visionaries, and is so regarded in our ports."

OUR DELEGATES ENTERTAIN.

Banquet Given to Pan-American Delegates in City of Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—The banquet given tonight at the Chepaultepec restaurant by the United States delegation to the Pan-American conference in honor of their colleagues of Mexico and the other republic of America, was the great success. In addition to the delegates from Mexico and Central and South America, United States Ambassador Clayton was present, and also several prominent men of Mexico's official world.

Ex-Secretary Henry G. Davis, chairman of the United States delegation, proposed a toast to President Diaz and the presidents of other Pan-American republics couched in highly complimentary language. The Hon. John Barrett made the principal address of the evening.

PENNSYLVANIANS ARE DEVELOPING TENNESSEE.

Building Railroads, Cutting Timber, Buying Tanneries and Preparing to Mine Iron Ore.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—W. B. Townsend of Clearfield and C. S. Walton of Pittsburgh are at the head of a wealthy syndicate of Pennsylvanians who have already begun development of the natural resources of East Tennessee on a gigantic scale. A total investment of over $1,500,000 is intended. By the 1st of January the contract will be let for the building of a railroad which, when completed, will tap the little Tennesse river country.

Mr. Townsend also has organized the Little River Lumber Company, with a capitalization of $150,000, and it has already secured options on over 60,000 acres of timber in Sevir and Blount counties, which will be developed immediately.

Mr. Walton, as president of the Schlosser Leather Company, will invest $250,000 in a tannery and associated industries at the terminus of the new railroad in Blount county. The plant is already under construction. A new town has sprung up there, and yesterday it was christened "Walland." Mr. Walton is interested in the tanneries at Newport and Waynesville, N. C.

Gray?

Perhaps you like the idea of looking 25 or 30 years older than you are! If not, use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It completely restores the color to gray hair, all the dark, rich color it used to have. No use in looking old before your time.

"I am over sixty years of age and my hair is very handsome. People tell me I don't look nearly that old, because my hair is so dark and thick. You know I use Ayer's Hair Vigor."

Contagious Diseases—Six cases of typhoid fever, three of scarlet fever and four of diphtheria were reported to the bureau of health yesterday.

Held for Murder—The coroner's jury yesterday recommended that Amos Byers be arrested and await the action of the grand jury for the murder of William Lawson on Mt. Washington Monday.

Diamond Ring Stolen—Fenton Brown, colored, was arrested on Wylie avenue yesterday afternoon charged with stealing a diamond ring valued at $85 and $6 in money from Mrs. Annie Munsey of No. 1307 Franklin street.

Will Fight Railroad—Braddock councils, at a special meeting last night, decided to fight the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in the courts. It is attempting to use an old right of way granted to the Pittsburgh & Connellsville and lay its tracks on Third street.

Raising Money for Academy—The Rev. Dr. Thomas Davis Ewing of Iowa is in this city and its vicinity trying to raise $50,000 for the endowment of Cornell academy, of which he is the president. Dr. Ewing says that he met with much success in Kittanning.

Charged With Stealing $40—Detective Robert Denniston arrested Sidney Miller, colored, yesterday on a charge of being a suspicious person. Miller is 17 years old and is alleged to have taken $40 from Edward Booker, a storekeeper in Second avenue. He will be arraigned for hearing this morning.

School Was Opened—The new Rankin school building was informally opened yesterday. The dedication will not take place for about two weeks, but the need of room for the children was imperative. The building and apparatus cost about $68,000, and will accommodate 700 pupils.

The Turkey Radish—J. B. Stewart of Jefferson street, Allegheny, has received a 4-pound radish from the farm of the Hon. T. L. Marshall, Osage county, Kansas. The radish is shaped like a turkey, the legs and wings being perfectly formed. The only portion missing is the head, but still it bears a strong resemblance to one of the national birds dressed.

A New Jersey Charter—The Pittsburgh Lamp, Brass & Glass Company, with a capital of $1,500,000, was incorporated at Trenton yesterday to manufacture and deal in glassware of all kinds. The incorporators are James H. Willcock, Frank C. Wallace, George W. Blair, George B. Barrett, Nicholas Kopp, William Currey, David W. McNaugher and Edward A. Fitzmiller.

To Departing Foreman—William Yallowley, for the past 20 years foreman of the machine department of the Pittsburg works of the American Locomotive Company, was presented with a gold watch and chain yesterday by his fellow employes. Recently Mr. Yallowley resigned to accept a similar position in Kingston, Canada. The presentation speech was made by Joseph Stewart, in behalf of the employes at noon.

At Allegheny Postoffice—The regular holiday hours will be observed at the Allegheny postoffice today. The registry and money order windows will be open until 10 a. m. The stamp and general delivery windows will be open from 7 a. m. until 10 a. m. and from 6 p. m. until 9 p. m. The executive department will be open until 10 a. m. The morning deliveries and collections will be made as usual.

Fired Bullets Through Door—John Keefe, Daniel Scott and Charles, colored, were fined $100 and costs yesterday by Police Magistrate Bernard McKenna on charges of disorderly conduct. The men are alleged to have stood in front of the house at 18 Logan street and fired three shots through the door. One of the women of the place became frantic at the actions of the men and jumped out of the second story window. The men were sent to the workhouse.

An Appeal for Aid—The Children's Aid society is sending out an appeal for help, especially financial. It is in great need of money. Outcast, destitute, deserted, homeless children are the objects of this society's care, and since organization about 1,000 children have been saved through its efforts. The office of this society is in the Dispensary building, Sixth avenue, near Grant street. Anything sent to the actuary, Miss E. L. McLean, Dispensary building, will be gratefully acknowledged by the treasurer, Mrs. J. J. Mathews, 5540 Hayes street, Pittsburgh.

Threatened Suicide—Mrs. Allan Gatewood, colored, of Penn avenue and St. Clair street, created a great deal of excitement yesterday by threatening to commit suicide to Dr. Henry M. Hall, who was attending her. When the physician left her home he telephoned to No. 6 police station. Several officers hurried to the house and found the woman in a despondent mood. The presence of the officers at the house attracted a large crowd. Mrs. Gatewood promised the officers to do herself no violence, and they left the house.

The President's Thanks—At the weekly meeting of the Humane society yesterday a letter was read from George B. Cortelyou, secretary to President Roosevelt, in response to the letter sent the latter commending him for his refusal to use horses with docked tails. Mrs. Anna S. Leech was elected a life member of the society. Moneys were reported as follows: Miss Matilda W. Denny $26, Freedom Oil Company $5, John Munhall $10, fines from Alderman Samuel Abernathey $20, Alderman C. F. Over $60 and from Agent Hiram Brown of Franklin $20.

Wanted to See the World—Two young Allegheny boys left their homes yesterday imbued with a desire to see the world. They had about $50 between them and it is thought that they have gone to Cleveland, O. They are John King of Racine street and John Gallagher of Lowrie street, Troy Hill. The matter was reported to the police and it was learned that two boys answering their description had purchased tickets to Cleveland over the Lake Erie road. Superintendent of Police Henry Muth telephoned to Cleveland last night to arrest them upon their arrival there.

New Oil Company Formed—A new company, capitalized at $1,000,000, composed of Pittsburgh and Indiana people, will soon commence operations in Indian territory. The officers of the company are Frank B. Wilkinson, treasurer; B. F. Keesling, vice president; W. W. Ross, treasurer; Seth M. Vesley, secretary. The company is to be known as the Ohio and Indiana Oil Company, and has opened offices at 315 Fourth avenue, in charge of Mr. Herbert Carleton. The company has taken out a charter in Maine. The concern will confine itself entirely to the purchase of property containing producing wells.

Fought for Customer—William Flarick and Frank Subaweska were committed to jail last night by Alderman Cahill on an information for disorderly conduct made by Israel Seman. He keeps a clothing store at No. 1347 Penn avenue and one of the two went there to buy a suit of clothes. Seman claims he cut and altered the pants and coat to suit his customer, but the sale was lost when the other man entered the store and induced the customer not to buy. The interference caused a fight. Seman sued them before Alderman Burns, but he let them go on payment of costs. The two men sued him for assault and battery before Alderman Schaeffer and he was held for court. Then Seman brought another suit against them before Alderman Cahill and he sent the men to jail in default of $100 bail for a hearing today.

Refused to Make Arrests—Coroner Jesse M. McGeary and Chief of Police Samuel Davis of McKees Rocks had a disagreement yesterday over the arrests of Police Officers Thomas Grogan and Patrick McCarthy, which were ordered by the coroner in connection with the killing of a Pole Sunday night at that place. Chief Davis received the warrants, but refused to put the officers under arrest. It is alleged that he said that he would not do so until he had conferred with the district attorney. Coroner McGeary threatened to arrest Chief Davis for contempt of court if he did not arrest the officers.

Schwab Will Be Invited—The Homestead Business Men's association held a meeting last evening, at which it was decided to hold their annual banquet and meeting, on the evening of January 14. A committee consisting of A. D. Slocum, M. P. Schooley, Morris, John Leech and and Adam Forsythe was appointed to arrange the affair. C. M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, will be invited to be a guest, as well as President W. E. Coray of the Carnegie Steel Company, and A. C. Dinkey, general manager of the Homestead steel works. Mr. Schwab was to have been present at the banquet last year, but was unable to do so because of another engagement.

SMALL FIRES DOWN TOWN.

While Firemen Were Fighting Another Blaze, Fire Attacked Their Engine Houses.

Two fires in the downtown district, yesterday afternoon, kept the firemen of the district busy. The first, which was a particularly stubborn blaze, originated in the basement of the Axthelm Electric Company, at No. 243 Third avenue, shortly before 1 o'clock. The fire gained a good headway, owing to the density of the smoke, which prevented the firemen from fighting it effectually for some time, and threatened the buildings of the Baker Office Furniture Company, one of which was on each side of the burning structure. After an hour's hard work the fire was subdued.

The second blaze sprung up in the Engine House No. 30, and spread to Engine House No. 31, which adjoins it, the former facing in First avenue, and the latter in Second avenue. The members of the two companies were, at the time, engaged in fighting the Third avenue fire, and the flames were shooting high above the two buildings when they returned. The fire alarm wires in that district were also out of order, and delayed the return of the fire fighters. James Carroll of Engine House No. 1 dislocated his left ankle in fighting the fire. It is supposed to have originated in the hay chute of Engine House No. 30, and damaged the building and equipment about $1,000, besides consuming $1,000 worth of hay and feed. The loss at the Axthelm plant will approximate $2,000, fully covered by insurance.

TEACHER WAS CENSURED.

Permitted Child of Fever-Stricken Family to Come to the Schoolhouse.

At the regular meeting of the school directors of the Sixth ward, Allegheny, held last night Anna M. McMunn, a teacher of the school, was censured for a violation of the school laws in permitting a child to attend school in whose home a case of scarlet fever was being treated.

Several weeks ago a child of James Rolland of Juniata street became ill with scarlet fever. The case was reported to the bureau of health and the house placarded and quarantined. The family failed to observe the quarantine regulations and permitted a 12-year-old girl, Mary, to go to school.

In order that she might not fall behind in her class work the child was in the habit of going to the schoolhouse after the class was dismissed and securing the work of the day. She completed the work during the next day and took her papers to Miss McMunn for correction.

The case was reported to the bureau of health on Monday, and the family notified to stop sending the child to school. At the meeting last night the teacher was censured for permitting the girl to endanger the health of 1,850 pupils.

CASHIER HELD TO ACCOUNT.

Punishment to Follow Violation of Banking Laws by Alabama Concern.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 27.—An indictment was found today against Col. E. B. Young, cashier of the defunct Eufaula (Ala.) National bank, by the United States grand jury. Col. Young, accompanied by his bondsmen, later surrendered to the federal authorities and Judge Jones fixed the bond at $7,500. Col. Young was held responsible in the indictment for all the alleged violations of the banking laws by the officers of the Eufaula National bank.

Needs of Alaska.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—The wants of Alaska, as summarized in recommendations by Gov. Brady, are extension to Alaska of all the federal land laws; survey of the lands for immediate settlement; a delegate in congress without territorial organization; a cable between the United States and Alaska; representation at the Louisiana Purchase exposition in 1903; the appointment of a commissioner of mining, and enactment of a game law.

COFFEE IMPORTER

Tells Some Plain Facts.

One of the heaviest importers of coffee in America, and who requests that his name be kept from the public in connection with the following subject because of the effect it would have on his business, says: "I have used coffee for over thirty-five years, but about a year ago was compelled to discontinue its use on account of its effect on my health. Since that time I have used nothing in its place but Postum Cereal Food Coffee, and properly prepared it is simply delicious with cream and sugar.

"In connection with this I have also used Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food. While in Florida this winter I carried a package with me all the time, so if I was unable to get what I wanted for breakfast I could rely on my own supply.

"Anyone who could have known of my condition a year ago, and the very great improvement now, would have no cause to question the wisdom of my change from the old-fashioned diet to the present."

This man is one of the best known coffee experts in the world, and his testimony regarding the flavor of Postum Cereal Food Coffee is noteworthy.

Now and then a person gets Postum Food Coffee served under-boiled and consequently almost tasteless. A chemical change takes place in Postum after it has been actively boiled 12 or 15 minutes; this change brings out the food value and the delicious taste. It does not answer to simply leave it on the stove for 15 minutes; it must stand on the stove until boiling commences, then be allowed to bubble 15 minutes.

A piece of butter twice the size of a pea should be put in the pot to keep it from boiling over.

Many a man or woman continues in a half sick state from month to month, not knowing that the drug in the coffee they use is the cause; try leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee. That change has worked salvation for many skeptical sick ones.

MRS. NATION DIVORCED.

Court Held That She Had Been Guilty of Gross Neglect of Duty.

MEDICINE LODGE, KAN., Nov. 27.—David Nation was today granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Carrie Nation, "the joint smasher." The court exonerated Mrs. Nation from the charge of cruelty to her husband, and divided the property. The Medicine Lodge home will go to Mr. Nation and outlying property to his wife.

In reply to questions of the court Mrs. Nation said that one reason she fought the proceedings was that she wished to continue her share of the pension money drawn by her husband.

Judge Gillett granted the divorce on the ground of gross neglect of duty. When Mrs. Nation first started out on her career of joint smashing a year ago Mr. Nation seemed to be in sympathy with her raids. But when she spent all of her time away from home, crusading or serving sentences in jail for destroying property, he went to the home of his daughter in Indiana to live. He was Mrs. Nation's second husband and was nearly 70 years old. The couple had lived together for many years.

The Governor and Senator Quay.

The usually accurate editor of the Johnstown Tribune has erred in the reading of an editorial in The Gazette of Nov. 25, and the error is so important that we cannot let it pass without correction. The error the Tribune has fallen into is in representing that The Gazette connected Senator Quay with the deal entered into by Gov. Stone with Senator Flinn and J. O. Brown. If the editor of the Tribune will refer again to The Gazette's editorial and read it more carefully he will note that Senator Quay was not in any way connected by The Gazette with the Stone-Flinn deal. Instead, The Gazette merely called attention to the fact that the parties of the second part in the deal with the governor are the same persons who were represented in a publication made on Nov. 16, 1896, as having attempted to negotiate with Senator Quay a deal "for the mutual business and political advantage which may result therefrom." The Gazette also said: "As is well known, Senator Quay refused to treat on the terms proposed." These were the only references to the Senator. Furthermore, The Gazette has published a telegram from him in strong disapproval of the governor's act, and accepts it in perfect faith. This telegram from Senator Quay declared the removal of Maj. Brown to be against his earnest protest and advice. "I repudiate," he declared, "all connection with it or responsibility for its consequences." This is clear and unequivocal, and The Gazette would be the last to cast doubt upon it. Nor has it done so.

We recognize the friendliness of the Tribune's expressions and feel assured that its error is not of the heart. When it speaks of The Gazette in this strain there is no room to mistake its good intent:

> The Pittsburgh Gazette, a paper whose Republicanism was never in question, and whose support of its principles has always been energetic as able, and neither exceeded by any, does not take kindly to the thimble-rigging game of politics which has been played in Pittsburgh for the past six months and is now being played on that city's supposed warrant citizens by gamblers at the junction of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, with the Ohio at the apex, and their confederates at the other end of the Keystone, where the Schuylkill and Delaware rivers flow, aided and abetted by those interested on the Susquehanna, in the center of the state, where the manipulators of and on the green meet to congregate.

The Next Governor.

Gov. Stone's action concerning the Pittsburgh recordership has resulted in throwing open the prize of the nomination for governor in the next Republican state convention to more active competition. Up to the moment of the promulgation of the governor's monumental folly the conspicuous favorite for nomination was Attorney General Elkin. Of course, there was no assurance that Mr. Elkin would be without competitors, for in the background there was at least the figure of former Lieutenant-Governor Watres, who, however, was a receptive rather than an active candidate, watchfully hopeful rather than aggressive. Mr. Elkin's star was in the ascendant when the governor in pursuance of a private deal delivered the goods, and its luster was not immediately dimmed. The attorney general professed dissatisfaction with the action of his chief, and to that extent aligned himself with popular sentiment. The people, however, expected deeds to follow words. But day followed day until it was felt by many who were his friends that the attorney general had made himself accessory to the governor's act by retaining his commission. Mr. Elkin permitted an opportunity to pass that seldom comes to a man. Had he promptly resigned he would have continued to dominate the field as a candidate for governor. By not doing so he threw away his advantage, and now other candidates are being discussed in quarters where the attorney general had been the favorite. There is a strong feeling against Gov. Stone throughout the state. A robust popular sentiment holds that no man can serve two masters, and the people are resolved that the next governor shall represent, not Stone, but them.

Shamrock the Third.

A prolonged consideration of the matter has not dissuaded Sir Thomas Lipton from his intention, announced immediately after the recent series of yacht races, of challenging once more for the America's cup. He was willing to allow some other English yachtsman an opportunity to try to lift the coveted trophy, but the rest of the English mariners are "backward about coming forward." They appear to be unwilling to deprive Sir Thomas of the fun and expense of building another yacht and bringing it to America to race against a cup defender, and are apparently quite reconciled to the idea of allowing him to have the glory if he shall succeed. It appears to be practically settled, therefore, that Shamrock the Third will be the next challenger. It's all right. As a matter of fact, we would rather defeat Sir Thomas than any other Britisher we know, for he takes his defeats gamely; and if the cup is to be lifted, we'd a little rather Sir Thomas did the work than anyone else.

Thanksgiving Day.

While losing in the century of its observance much of the original purpose and intent of its founders, the recognition of a day of thanksgiving and prayer by the American people is still a distinguishing mark of the religious principles that underlie the structure of our government. But that the day is becoming more and more a general feast day, and partakes under modern conditions of the cosmopolitan character of our population, in no wise destroys the central thought to be kept in mind. Our gratitude is each year increasingly due to God for His manifold blessings. The past year has been especially rich in marks of favor and in the blessings that have come to the American people. Great prosperity abounds. From a nation isolated and insignificant in the great world movements of trade and commerce we have come to a place of great power and influence. Another year has been added to our history in the management of insular territory, and the results are honorable alike to our character as a free people and creditable to the wisdom and beneficence of our republican institutions. The hard problems left us by a war into which a high sense of right and equity forced us are being solved, slowly it is true, but always in the spirit of patriotism. Our success in this particular has won us the respect of the nations of the world and has made us a strong factor in shaping future international policies and in spreading abroad the purer principles of Anglo-Saxon civilization.

At home our lands have yielded abundant harvests and our industries furnish employment for thousands of contented workmen. Never before in the history of the country has there been at work such widespread systems of education and moral betterment. Great fortunes are being made, and in scores of instances are being turned back into channels of usefulness and blessing to the whole people. Sectional animosity has only sporadic and harmless recognition. We are one people in thought and purpose, moving forward with a common desire to see this great American nation achieve the destiny so cleverly marked out for it under the providence of God.

While these great reasons for national thanksgiving will naturally inspire the united gratitude of the people there are also many reasons why the day should contain a thoughtful reference to the dangers and responsibilities that have grown out of the prosperity and world power that have come to us as a people. The usual joy of the festival will be darkened by the shadow of a crime that deprived the nation of a great and good president, and thoughtful people will see in that tragedy reason for profound humiliation and an earnest seeking after effective remedies against the social unrest that made it possible. With so much that is strong and glorious in our history it is a wonderful fact that we are also exposed to the evils that have undermined less favored nations. These can be best guarded against by an effort to elevate and make more sacred the home life of the American people. Thanksgiving day is of all other feast days a great home carnival, and today as the millions of American households do honor to this old Puritan institution the chief thought and prayer should be that amid all the gracious prosperity and power of the national life there may come a revival of the wholesome teachings that made the homes of our forefathers sources of power and good in shaping and directing the lives of the people.

Our Moral Obligation.

The report from Cuba that Gen. Wood has said the United States will be morally bound to annex the island if asked by it to do so is interesting. But there will be two opinions about it. The moral obligation assumed by the United States was that of making Cuba free and independent. Thanks to the heart and soul put into his work by Gen. Wood, the obligation is almost discharged, and better than we had reason to expect. The Cuban republic will soon be a hope realized. The American governor of the island during this period of transition and formation brought a clear mind to his work, and an unselfish devotion that has made him the father of a people. Who could have done so well as he? If he has said that the United States is morally bound, if asked, to annex the island, it is with no desire for territorial aggrandizement of the United States, but because he believes a home among our sisterhood of commonwealths is the highest good for Cuba and Cubans. It is Cuba's good that has animated him from the first and made his hard task easy. His confidence in the mission of the United States to be a shelter, a refuge and an abiding place for the weak also finds beautiful expression in the sentiment attributed to him, but when he lets go the reins in Cuba our moral obligation will have ceased. Future relations will be a matter of business arrangement and not of sentiment.

The Farmers' Exports.

The value of the agricultural department, the youngest of them all, is becoming more apparent each year. Results have amply justified its establishment and the wisdom of giving its head a place in the president's cabinet. The annual report of Secretary Wilson this year is a most impressive document, showing, as it does, the large increase in the exports of agricultural products, and reflecting the deep interest the farmers of America have in the export trade of the country. The United States sold to foreign consumers in the past fiscal year agricultural products valued at the unprecedented sum of $950,000,000. This is an increase of $90,000,000 over the previous high water mark, which was reached in 1898.

When it is known, moreover, that the agricultural exports equalled 65 per cent of the total value of domestic products sold abroad, it becomes apparent that the farmers ought to be deeply interested in the search for foreign markets and keenly alive to the importance of measures intended to encourage the American merchant marine. Markets and transportation are quite as essential to the farmer as to the manufacturer.

The Innocent Victim.

So great has been the tie-up of freights from the operation of purely natural causes that it is difficult to reach a conclusion as to the effectiveness of the strike of the switchmen from a reading of the conflicting statements made by their leaders and by the railroad managers. Freight movements have been so unsatisfactory of late owing to the unpreparedness of the railroads for the unexampled expansion of business that the newest influence against the free movement of trains could hardly make itself apparent so soon. Things could not well be much worse than they have been unless there should occur an absolute cessation. The necessities of the railroads gave the switchmen their opportunity. The public, as we have pointed out, is the principal sufferer in controversies of this kind, and unfortunately has no means of redress. The railroads have obligations to the public in the premises and are endeavoring to the best of their ability to fulfill them without conceding the demands of the strikers. The striking switchmen, on the other hand, are without any such responsibility to the public, their only legal obligation being that of non-interference with the work of the railroads and their employes. There being no tribunal that can deal authoritatively with differences of opinion between employer and employe on questions of wages they must be left when they reach the acute stage of absolute disagreement, to the arbitrament of the law of supply and demand. The railroad managers are constrained in the present instance in no small measure by considerations of "what the traffic will bear," while the strikers must ultimately be governed by what their labor will bring in the general market. From conditions such as exist must in time be evolved by the innocent victim, the public, some effective cure. The public interest is the greatest, but the least considered. In good time it must become the first and dominant consideration.

The story of pending arrests on the charge of obtaining smuggled furs from Canada would seem to indicate that the citizens of Cleveland and Youngstown believe the goose bone indicates that we are to have an unusually severe winter.

Give thanks anyway, with the wise reservation that it might have been worse. Governor Stone's term might have been just beginning instead of drawing to a close.

We suppose Mr. Nation hardly felt that it was necessary to get up and make the fire. Mrs. Nation doubtless made it quite warm enough for him.

President Roosevelt's message it is said will contain 30,000 words. It is not said how many of these have been contributed by the correspondents.

Pittsburgh's new city government has settled down as though it expected to spend the winter at least.

The turkey is now beyond the reach of the newspaper jokes about him.

Prosperity Makes Thanksgiving Sincere

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Nov. 27, 1901.

Greater New York will eat a million Thanksgiving turkeys. The population of the greater city at the last census, in 1900, was nearly 3,500,000, so that, allowing an average of three and a half persons to a family, there should be turkey for every man, woman and child in the city on Thanksgiving day, counting in babies in arms. This is on the assumption that all the turkeys in the market are sold. That there is prosperity all over this land is as patent to Pittsburghers as to New Yorkers, and the markets of the city at the head of the Ohio are bursting with abundance, just as are those of the metropolis. It is possible, however, that good times make a greater impression on New York because the ravages of famine are seen here in depressed seasons much more than they ever are in Pittsburgh. At all events, the holiday spirit has been abroad for the last few days, and on this Thanksgiving eve one sees nothing of the want and sorrow that is usually considered inseparable from holiday time. The markets are doing a rushing business. "Paddy's market," as the long stretch of handcarts in Ninth avenue, near Forty-second street, is called, is one of the busiest of all, and turkeys, cranberries, celery, chickens and other holiday fare have been handed over to customers in a steady torrent of commerce since early morning. Washington, Fulton and other well-known markets of long standing have all felt the effects of Thanksgiving, and merchants in those places agree that this has been the greatest Thanksgiving trade they have ever known. There is money in circulation among the wage-earners. That is the reason so much of it has found its way into the regulation Thanksgiving dinner, and that New York is preparing for a big feast, individually and collectively. There is every indication that the weather will be sharp, but we have given up expectation of the old-fashioned snow-covered Thanksgiving in this part of the country.

Bake the Turkey Breast Downward.

An authority here has shattered one of the culinary traditions of Thanksgiving. He says that turkey should be baked, not on its back, but the other way up, and he has a lot of arguments to prove the correctness of his dictum. He opines, in the first place, that the "white meat" should not be dry. Then he remarks that when the breast of a turkey is sliced off it is generally so dry that is actually crumbles, even when the carving knife has been as it should be, brought to a razor-like keenness. He admits that continuous and faithful basting will obviate this condition to a certain degree, but he insists if you turn the "critter" face downward the "white meat" will be so saturated with fat and gravy that it will come out moist and full of a savoriness that has been unknown to most people. It is to be feared that few housekeepers will confess that they do not know how to cook turkey, but there is nothing to prevent their taking the hint of the New York expert without saying anything to anybody. His argument looks as if it might be sound.

An Artistic Appetizer.

As a suggestion of the variety of entertainment that will be offered to New Yorkers, it may be mentioned that a special exhibition of water colors by prominent Japanese begins on Thanksgiving afternoon at the American art galleries in Madison square. There is something convivial in Japanese art as Americans know it, and an hour in this exhibition ought to give one a good appetite for dinner.

The Thanksgiving Mutinee.

All the theaters in New York will have Thanksgiving matinees, as will be the case in Pittsburgh and every other American city. The notable feature of the matinees here is that some star actresses who would not "work" at a matinee except on Saturday on any ordinary occasion, give way to the popular clamor for afternoon entertainment on this holiday and will go through their dramatic spasms for the benefit of Thanksgiving audiences without complaint. Mrs. Fiske, Anna Held, Annie Russell, Maude Adams, Grace George and Elsie de Wolfe all will do the extra matinee, whether it agrees with them personally or not. One of the continuous houses intends to be worthy of its designation by giving its first performance at 9:30 in the morning, so that it can go clear through its program in time to send its actors and audience away to a 1 o'clock dinner.

Latest Taunt at Brooklyn.

"The absurd borough at the melancholy end of the big bridge," is the way one Manhattan man spoke of Brooklyn this afternoon.

Turkey for the Big Prisoners.

There is a new Thanksgiving regulation for some of the inmates of the Tombs. The warden has always in former years supplied notorious murderers and others whose crimes are of the spectacular order, with a special dinner on Thanksgiving day. Under the law at present governing the warden's official duties, he can, if he likes, leave his "big" prisoners to the care of their friends.

Five Points Still Dangerous.

The "Five Points" no longer exist in New York except in name. Where the five streets used to come to an apex, in the midst of filthy tenements, forming the worst cesspool of crime known on this continent, there is now a park, with ornamental shrubbery, grassplots, rustic seats and electric lights. Yet, in this district, a man was done to death last night. "He met his death in the Five Points," said a policeman today. He was beaten to unconsciousness by thugs, who took him to a Bowery lodging house, and left him there, to be discovered dead some hours later in his solitary bedroom. He was a well-dressed, muscular man, who could take care of himself physically under ordinary circumstances. The supposition is that he went "slumming" and fell into the hands of murderers. The point of this incident is that it is not safe, even in these civilized days, for a stranger to go by himself into the purlieus of the Bowery, especially at night.

Benevolence by Proxy.

One of the legion of cranks that are always busy in New York has had a new fad this week. He has been going to tradespeople and ordering a large bill of fruit, candy or other delicacies, to be sent to some charitable institution, such as an old ladies' home, an orphan asylum, a school for the instruction of the blind, and what not. He gave the name of some well-known philanthropist, telling the merchant to send the bill to him. The names of most of the prominent rich men with charitable tendencies have been used in this way. In many cases the bills have been paid by the men who were charged with the wares, because they would not disappoint the receivers; but there has been a steady hunt for the fellow who was taking these liberties. In some instances the bills were not paid, the victims remarking that they preferred to conduct their own charities without assistance from outsiders.

What Next? Who Next?

It is long since members of the New York police department have been as excited as they are today. The convicting of Capt. Diamond for neglect of duty, and fining him $1,000, with the alternative of a year in a penitentiary, was a culmination of the charges against him that was hardly expected. It does not mean that he will be dismissed from the force necessarily, his offense being only a misdemeanor in the eyes of the law; but there is a feeling that it is a serious enough matter even as it is. The main question is, "What next? or, rather, who next?"

Waiting for the Lightweight Battle.

Terry McGovern went to Hartford, Conn., this evening for his boxing contest with "Young Corbett." Of course, his manager, the abullient Sam Harris, was with him, and a score or so of admirers of "Terrible Terry" were on the train. McGovern says he knows he will win, but, then, "Young Corbett" is equally certain that he will beat Terry. There is a great deal of interest in the match in upper Broadway, and there is considerable betting in a small way among the sporting crowd that is always to be seen in the cafes and hotel lobbies in the neighborhood of Forty-second street and Broadway.

Famous Diamond Appraised.

The "Hope" blue diamond (for the big stone which came to New York a week or two ago is the "Hope" diamond, in spite of positive denials of the fact by nearly everyone that had anything to do with it) was taken to the appraisers' stores this afternoon to be valued. The result of the appraisement has not been made public. It is to be presumed that the official work was done carefully, for the assistant appraiser, T. C. Worden, personally supervised the job and the jeweler who has bought the gem paid the duty without argument. The diamond will be reset and then placed on exhibition.

Big Traffic in Thanksgiving Pies.

One of the industries that flourishes largely at Thanksgiving time is the selling of Thanksgiving mince pies. There is one particular firm down-town that makes a specialty of these pies, retailing them at 50 and 75 cents each, and this afternoon there was a long string of purchasers awaiting their turn. The pies are packed in boxes and tied up with string and paper with bewildering rapidity. They are thrown across the counter in a steady stream and thousands of dollars were taken in today. How many pies were sold is known only to the firm and its employes, while the quantity of mincemeat used would sound like a Munchausen tale. It may be remarked that the same kind of pie becomes a "Christmas mince pie" at Yuletide.

Thanksgiving Eve Shopping.

Business was rushing in the shopping district today. One of the big stores that has been putting up a new building for several months opened its place today, which added considerably to the excitement in the locality. It is not traditional to buy new clothing for Thanksgiving specially, but as at all holiday seasons there are many bits of finery that the feminine mind longs for when there is to be a general gathering around the "festal board." (I believe "festal board" is the correct expression.) So the drygoods stores were jammed with buyers all day, and they had not the strained, eager look of bargain hunters, either, as a rule. Bargains are not so determinedly sought at Thanksgiving as at other times.

Trees for the Bleak Places.

This is a good time for tree planting, and the subject has come a great deal into public notice in this city just now. There is a hard working association of women in New York who devote their energies to getting shade trees into being. They have induced many property holders to plant trees along the sidewalks in the resident districts, and they want more of them. They recommend the Carolina poplar as the best tree for the purpose, because it is hardy and quick growing. They say that trees can be planted until the ground is hard with frost, and that there is no better season than this for putting them in. New York is a bleak place in many parts, for the lack of trees, and the Tree Planting association is trying hard to overcome this defect; but the metropolis will never have as delightful residence districts as the East End of Pittsburgh, let the Tree Planting association work as hard as it may. New York cannot expect everything.

Electric 'Busses Appear.

Electric 'busses made their appearance in Fifth avenue today. The old Noah's arks which have been a feature of the avenue for so many years will disappear very soon, and the gaudily-painted, swift-moving carriages with electric motors inside will have the roadway to themselves, so far as public stages are concerned. There have been promises of these electric stages for so many years that the ordinary New Yorker has become incredulous. However, it is conceded that Thanksgiving eve was a good time at which to produce them, and many a visitor to New York tomorrow will wrap himself or herself in warm clothing and view the city from the roof of the new stages.

Pittsburghers on Holiday Bent.

A large number of prominent Pittsburghers came to New York today to see the football match and to enjoy the pleasures of Thanksgiving in New York in a general way. There is no better place than the metropolis for a holiday, and Thanksgiving in New York has always been a popular idea with Pittsburgh residents.

NEXT WEEK'S PLAYS.

A Forecast of What Local Theatergoers May Expect for Amusement the Coming Week.

It is no small compliment to local playgoers that "Florodora," which is booked to open at the Alvin theater next Monday night for a week's run, is to be seen in this city before it is taken to Boston, St. Louis, Chicago and many other of the large cities. The company and production are the same as will be given in the cities named, which should serve as a guarantee of the efficiency that Managers John C. Fisher and Thomas W. Ryley are credited with effecting when they sent the famous play on tour. The "Florodora" advance sale of seats begins this morning.

Hoyt's "A Temperance Town," which remained at the Madison Square theater for over 10 months, will be given by the Grand opera house stock company next week, when the full strength of the company will be brought into play. "A Temperance Town" pictures an actual occurrence in a Vermont village, where a rum seller was sentenced to 60 years in jail because he could not pay a fine of $6,000 for selling 300 glasses of liquor.

An event in local theatricals that is looked forward to with much pleasure is the engagement at the Bijou theater next week of the popular German dialect comedian and golden-voiced singer, Al. H. Wilson, in Sidney R. Ellis' romantic comedy drama, "The Watch on the Rhine." Messrs. Charles H. Yale and Sidney R. Ellis, under whose direction the tour is being managed, promise a production complete in every detail, from acting company to special scenery and stage accessories. Al. H. Wilson is conceded to be one of the best singing comedians now before the public.

"Mam'selle 'Awkins" will be the attraction at the Empire theater next week, when the musical hit of a double Philadelphia engagement and long runs in other cities will be presented by a fine company of comedians and singers, and with the choruses, scenery and costumes.

Marie Walnwright, the famous tragedienne and emotional actress, will be seen for the first time in a vaudeville character next week at the Duquesne theater. Miss Walnwright presents a beautiful playlet, "Josephine and Napoleon." Another feature act is that of the Svengalis, whose knowledge and use of mind reading and telepathy have astounded scientists the world over. Others are Frank and Lillian Smith, Billy Carter, the three Mortons, Jo, Myra and Buster Keaton.

Managers Rice and Barton promise a superior entertainment here at the Academy next week when their "Rose Hill English Folly Company" plays at that popular home of vaudeville. Two uproariously funny burlesques and an olio of good things are set forth on the program.

Pantomime at the Grand.

Next Monday will be a busy day for the Grand opera house, when the advance sale of seats for the Christmas pantomime will open. It is expected that the sale will attract an unprecedentedly large crowd, and to this end Manager Davis has had built another box office in the lobby of the Grand to accommodate the sale of seats for the pantomime. "Cinderella, or the Magic Slipper" is the piece decided upon for the pantomime. It will be given after the manner of the Christmas pantomimes at the Drury Lane theater in London. The principal parts will be essayed by the regular stock company members, while upwards of 200 people will be seen on the stage in the ensemble pictures. A distinct feature of the pantomime will be a grand ballet of 50 beautiful young coryphees, imported from Europe by the Kiralfy Bros. Manager Davis has engaged the Kiralfy Bros. especially to superintend the ballet dances, of which there will be a number.

SPEAKING OF THE GOVERNOR.

There is no evidence to prove or reason to suspect that any governor of Pennsylvania ever took money for signing bills.—Scranton Tribune.

Maj. Brown, the late recorder, is a somewhat garrulous gentleman, but no one who knows him has ever doubted his veracity, said no one interested in the matter dare accuse him of falsifying. Much less dare any one, while upholding the governor of the state, who affects to be wronged by certain damaging stories, defy the major to tell the truth and the whole truth as he knows it.—Harrisburg Patriot.

It is due to the people of the state that the charges of bribery to which Gov. Stone referred in his new famous "postscript" be investigated immediately.—Franklin News.

Gov. Stone has himself given wide publicity to the fact that Thomas S. Bigelow accuses him of having received $150,000 for signing bills passed at the recent session of the legislature. Now comes Maj. Brown, the deposed recorder of Pittsburgh, with a plain declaration that Gov. Stone sought to bribe him to get out of the recordership with the offer of a place on the bench of the superior court. No one would have dared to bring against the former governor of Pennsylvania such grave accusations. Why have they been made against Gov. Stone? And why did he feel it necessary to deny the more serious one of them before there had been any public use of it? It is humiliating to the people of the state that they have an executive who is obliged to struggle not only with the suspicions of his fellow-citizens, but with responsible charges. Gov. Stone should search himself and understand how such things are made possible.—Philadelphia Press.

PERSONAL.

W. L. Rider, a New York business man, was a passenger on the Pennsylvania limited last night going to Toronto, Can., on a business trip. "The effect of the switchmen's strike has already reached Philadelphia and New York," he said. "Rush orders for goods from merchants of Pittsburgh must be sent by express, as the railroad companies are not receiving any goods without notifying the consignors they will not guarantee delivery before Christmas. Very little shipments are being received in the metropolis from Pittsburgh and the present tie-up, if it continues, will affect business greatly."

"Christmas shopping is not only much earlier, but much greater than ever before in New York," said Col. W. H. Berens, a Chicago attorney, who was a passenger on the New York and Chicago limited express last night. "The displays in New York business houses were never greater and the gifts to select from are more expensive. Although the general shopping season does not open until the first of December, all the stores are crowded and the holiday rush is on in earnest."

F. M. Garretson of Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co. arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday and is registered at the Hotel Griswold. He is here to superintend the work of erecting the new engines in the Frick building. There are four 16-inch, 500-horse power engines. These will be used for the lighting dynamos and elevators and are the largest engines to be placed in any office building in the world.

"An extension of the Scio, O., oil field now seems a certainty," said John McKay, a prominent contractor of that town at Newell's hotel last night. "The pool must have an outlet to the northeast and the wells that are now being drilled in that section are being watched very closely by oil producers."

John M. Hazlett and Harry Laufman left last night for Charleston, S. C., to attend the opening of the Southern exposition in that city next Monday.

W. H. Griffith, a tin plate magnate of Washington, Pa., is spending the week in Pittsburgh on business and registered at the Duquesne last night.

W. A. Baird, proprietor of the Hotel Riverside, Cambridge Springs, Pa., is a Hotel Henry guest.

Attorney Robert P. Kennedy of Uniontown, Pa., is stopping at the Duquesne.

THE DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Margaret S. McKelvy.

Mrs. Margaret Swisshelm McKelvy died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. S. Morrison at Rankine, Mo., on Monday last. Mrs. McKelvy was born on the old Swisshelm homestead at Swissvale, and was the daughter of John Swisshelm, an old revolutionary soldier, and one of the few real daughters of that war who lived in the present day. She was 85 years of age. Her husband, John McKelvy, died some years ago. In life he was a prominent citizen of Swissvale, and was also an old resident there. Since his death Mrs. McKelvy had lived in the west with her daughter. Her brothers, James and William, were well known for many years as employed in the prothonotary's office. Another brother, Henry, still lives in Indiana. A son, John, is living in Swissvale and two other sons and two daughters reside in the west. Dr. William H. McKelvy, president of the central board of education, William M. McKelvy, late of the Atlantic Refining Company; E. W. and John A. W. McKelvy of Wilkinsburg, are her nephews. She was connected with a large and prominent circle of relatives in this community, and was loved and respected by all who knew her. She lived and died a devout Christian and estimable woman.

Capt. James W. Porter.

Capt. James W. Porter of Sewickley died in New York city yesterday morning at 2:45 o'clock. Mr. Porter left his home in Sewickley about three weeks ago to be treated by a prominent New York physician. Word on Monday's telegram was received in Sewickley to the effect that he was failing. Miss Martha Porter, a daughter, left immediately for New York, and arrived shortly before his death. Capt. Porter was born in New York city 72 years ago. He came to Sewickley in 1849, and for many years was engaged in business. He was the owner of several boats at one time, and was very well known among the old rivermen of this district. After the war he came back to Sewickley and engaged in the oil business. Later he became a broker, but in 1879 he sold out this business and became president of the Carroll-Porter Boiler Company in 1899, which succeeded the R. W. C. Carroll Company. He was a prominent member of the Sewickley Presbyterian congregation, and a member of the Fort Pitt Hunt club of Sewickley. The surviving children are John L. Porter, secretary and treasurer of the Carroll-Porter Boiler Company; William Porter, manager of the same company, and Misses Mary and Martha Porter, all of Sewickley.

Dr. John A. Gann.

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Dr. John A. Gann, one of the best-known physicians of this city, died very suddenly at an early hour this morning of disease of the heart. He was widely known among Methodists as an active and tireless worker in church affairs. Dr. Gann was a delegate to Senator Foraker and was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan and Cleveland Homeopathic college. He was 58 years old and is survived by his wife and two sons.

Maj. John D. Kelley.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Major John D. Kelley died in Brooklyn last night from heart trouble. He was born at Petersburg, Va., in 1839. He was a major on General Longstreet's staff, and served throughout the civil war. He came north in the seventies, and became a well-known business manager of the Freeman's Journal. In 1872 he was appointed knight commander of the Order of Gregory the Great by Pope Pius IX.

Capt. Rufus A. McLane.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Captain Rufus Almer McLane, a veteran of the civil war, who formerly commanded Company A, Thirtieth regiment, Maryland volunteers, died yesterday. He was born 67 years ago. At the outbreak of the war he was made a master of transportation, and afterward had charge of the burying of the dead. He is survived by a widow and one son, Harry McLane.

Col. Henry Whigham.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Col. Henry Whigham of Raton, N. M., a member of the staff of Gov. Otero, is dead of heart disease here. Col. Whigham was interested in the Peter Maxwell mining claims in New Mexico and in iron and copper mines in Michigan. He leaves a widow. The funeral ceremonies will be held here by the Elks, and the body will then be taken to New Mexico.

John Stahl.

ALTOONA, PA., Nov. 27.—John Stahl, an aged German resident, who was famous as a wood carver, is dead. He made the altars and furnishments for nearly all of the leading Roman Catholic churches of this vicinity.

Obituary Notes.

Samuel Gibson, 54 years old, died yesterday at his home at No. 4564 Wylie avenue. He was a veteran of the civil war and was a plumber by occupation. For many years he conducted an establishment in Center avenue.

WHAT THE EDITORS ARE DISCUSSING.

THE STATE PRESS.

Attorney General Elkin has gone home to spend Thanksgiving. He can afford to give thanks that he got out of the Pittsburgh scandal so much easier than his chief did.—Harrisburg Patriot.

Compositors in the employ of a Philadelphia printing firm have refused to work with a negro at the case, and the latter was discharged. Seems to us this is pretty fastidious for fellows who daily associate with the devil.—Johnstown Tribune.

The rabbit defies extermination. They are shot by thousands, literally by the carload, yet there is no diminution in their numbers from year to year. It is probable that, but for the hunters, they would so multiply as to do actual damage to the farmer.—New Castle Herald.

Toll gates and toll bridges seem to be raising the wind in more than one locality in the state where they have been a menace to growth and development. Once they were an aid to the communities in which they were located, but like the Conestoga wagons and the canal boats, they are now back numbers.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The Philadelphia papers say that the owners of the Baldwin locomotive works threaten to remove their great establishment from the Quaker City if the construction of the Reading subway is permitted. The Baldwin works employ 10,500 men and all of these, with the exception of about 500, are American citizens and voters.—Reading Times.

Situated at the foot of a mountain, and almost in sight of three rivers, there is absolutely no excuse for the predicament that confronts Uniontown in being smitten by a water famine that menaces property and paralyzes the future growth of the town. When the new water company get their charter, such a blight will no longer rest on the town.—Uniontown News-Standard.

Maj. Brown makes specific charges that Gov. Stone repeatedly tried to bribe him with offers of appointment to get him to resign the Pittsburgh recordership in order that that office might be turned over to Flinn. Gov. Stone does not deny the charge. And it wouldn't make any difference if he did. The public would believe Brown. And if Stone doesn't have the hide of a rhinoceros his ears must tingle at the things this same public is saying about him.—Uniontown News Standard.

Andrew Carnegie is quoted as having advised President Roosevelt to leave the tariff alone. "Don't interfere with prosperity," he says. It is the existence of Andrew Carnegie and others who have made their millions out of iron and steel that enforces and

PAPERS ISSUED TO 210 BLISSFUL ONES

A Feature of Work of Cupids Most Efficient Aid, Was Large Number of American Born Citizens, Who Came to His Office.

Yesterday was one of the busiest days in the history of the marriage license clerk's office. When that efficient aide of Cupid authorizes 60 or 70 couples to share their joys and sorrows he considers himself about the most overworked man about the Allegheny county courthouse.

Yesterday, however, he issued 105 marriage licenses, and it will be generally admitted that he is entitled to a vacation today.

Usually, also, a large majority of the licenses are taken out by individuals belonging to the foreign element, which has been so numerous recently in Pittsburgh and the surrounding towns and cities. Yesterday's list, however, is made up very largely of American-born citizens who are taking unto themselves wives at this glad Thanksgiving season.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28.

"What will not woman, gentle woman, dare when strong affection stirs her spirit up?"—Southey.

THE LONG COAT.

Half fitted effects are most popular, especially when a braid trimming gives a simulated yoke in back.

It was conducted last evening at the clubhouse in Oakland, and was the first ladies' night this season. The distinctive feature of the entertainment provided for the guests was a musicale. Miss Henriette Keil sang a number of songs. This is one of the first appearances of Miss Keil since she returned early in October, from two months' rest and study in England. The violin solos of E. G. Rothleder and the piano numbers by W. K. Steiner completed the very enjoyable informal program presented. The music room and reception rooms of the club are on the first floor and they were filled with the members of the club, 25 in all, and their friends, 125 being in attendance. Refreshments were served upon the second floor.

The home of the Sphinx club has been redecorated this past summer, and some of the apartments have been refurnished. The club, which is composed of artists, musicians, business men, lawyers and physicians, is a purely social organization and occasionally holds open meetings like the affair of last evening, when the ladies are entertained. The public club rooms are on the first floor, while on the second floor and the third are several suites of private apartments, occupied by the members of the club.

Some Future Social Affairs.

Miss Given has issued cards for a large card party, which she will give at her home in Neville street, Bellefield, Friday afternoon, December 6.

The Princeton club of Western Pennsylvania will, at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, November 30, give the Yale, Cornell and Harvard local clubs a smoker at the University club, Penn avenue.

The concert to be given in the Methodist Episcopal church, Bellevue, tonight, promises to be one of the social events of the season. Among the performers are Mrs. Kaethe P. Walker, 'cellist; Mrs. Vida McClure, soprano; Miss Julia Parks, pianist, and Frank Kiernan, reader.

The following is a list of the patronesses: Mrs. Capt. W. B. Rodgers, Mrs. R. M. Kerr, Mrs. T. E. Long, Mrs. S. Davis, Mrs. William Sample, Mrs. George Quaill, Mrs. T. S. Morgan, Mrs. L. M. Stright, Mrs. Webster Bragdon, Mrs. E. Coyle, Mrs. Frank Young, Mrs. William H. Bragdon, Mrs. Mary Benner, Mrs. D. G. Moon, Mrs. Louis Mahaffey, Mrs. Russell Mitchell, Mrs. Harry Elste, Mrs. J. Frank Tilley, Mrs. Adam Rodebaugh, Mrs. Harvey Lewis, Jr., and Mrs. E. R. Seaman.

The Orinda Club Dance.

The Orinda club gave its second dance this season at the South Highland auditorium last night. It was an exceptionally handsome affair, and was attended by a large number of the young people of the East End. The hall was simply decorated, and the committee of arrangements included Harry M. Feely, W. Ralph Hughes, George A. Weldon, Albert S. Frampton, James J. Leahy, John P. Garling, W. Albert Morten, O. Benjamin Martin and T. Morrison McKenna.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of Miss Bertha Louise Weniger and Dr. Homer Cortes Neale of this city was announced last evening at an informal reception given by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Weniger, at their residence in Shady avenue, East End. The wedding will take place in the early spring. The at home last evening was one of a series of informal entertainments Mrs. Weniger and her daughters are giving this season.

Following the Hounds.

The annual Thanksgiving day hunt of the Pittsburgh Hunt club will be held today. In the party which will follow the hounds over the course will be a number of ladies who take part in the weekly rides of the club. The start will be made at 10 o'clock from the grounds of the Country club, near the Beechwood boulevard in Squirrel Hill, and the ride will be over the regular course, which can be overlooked from the Country club grounds. When the riders return a luncheon will be served at the clubhouse, which will be an exceedingly picturesque affair, the ladies in their natty riding costumes and the men in red coats and boots. Pretty features will be introduced into the appointments of the luncheon and exquisite little souvenir cards, embellished with a gay picture of the horse and his rider taking a three-bar fence, will be given the guests.

Mann-Melvin.

J. Thayer Melvin, who until recently was employed in this city by the Carnegie Company, and then transferred to Duluth, where he became assistant cashier of the mining interests of the United States Steel Corporation, was bound in wedlock last evening to Miss Budd Mann, a well-known society girl of Duluth. Mr. Melvin is very popular among his numerous Pittsburgh friends and has made many friends in Duluth. After a short honeymoon he and his bride will take up their abode in Duluth.

For the Young Girls.

Mrs. Edwin F. Earl gave a small card party yesterday afternoon at her home in Fayette street, Allegheny, for her debutante daughter, Miss Helen Earl, and two young girls who are visiting her, Miss Wells of Chicago and Miss Johnson of Muncie, Ind. The game was hearts, and about 35 of the younger debutante set were entertained.

The Misses McKay gave a skating party yesterday at Duquesne garden in honor of the three young women who are their house guests, Miss Drake, Miss Rust and Miss Gilchrist.

At the Football Game.

A football party, composed exclusively of members of the Zenith club, will assemble at Recreation park this afternoon and witness the Homestead-Washington and Jefferson contest. The next meeting of the Zenithians will take place on the evening of December 1 at the home of Miss Johanna Stewart, Harriet street, East End. A masquerade party will be the diversion.

Simpson-Pridge.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The Rt. Rev. Sidney Catlin Pridge, bishop of Kyoto, Japan, and Miss Agnes Louise Simpson, daughter of Capt. John Simpson, consular representative of Denmark, were married at St. Luke's church in this city to-day.

Miss Hay to Wed Payne Whitney.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—The engagement was announced today of Miss Helen Hay, eldest daughter of the secretary of state, to Payne Whitney, second son of William C. Whitney, formerly secretary of the navy.

Notes of Society.

A progressive euchre and dance, under the auspices of the ladies' auxiliary of the Trees of Life congregation, will be given at Thuma's dancing academy on Wednesday evening, December 4.

The Sorosis club held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Schenley. In place of quotations each member was requested to state her favorite character in Scott's works, with the reason. The whole range of his writings was covered, and many characters were discussed.

The Thursday Evening assembly gives a dance tonight in the Assembly hall, Wilkinsburg. The patronesses are Mrs. Marcus C. Acheson, Mrs. Mary F. Batchelor, Mrs. Maurice B. Blakemore, Mrs. Louis M. Aspinwall, Mrs. Samuel Brown Dusinberre, Mrs. Charles B. Judd, Mrs. Charles B. Rice, Mrs. George W. Black, Mrs. Colin M. Reed and Mrs. William L. Simpson.

Gasoline Does Damage.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—An explosion of gasoline in a peanut wagon owned by A. N. Yent this afternoon destroyed a barn and did other damage amounting to $1,000. The owner was nearby at the time and had a narrow escape.

A WONDERFUL GROWTH.

An Increase in Deposits Unequalled by Any Savings Bank in the Country.

In five years the deposits of the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, Smithfield street, opposite postoffice, increased by over Seven Million Dollars. This is pretty good evidence of public confidence in this old-established and popular banking house. 27,000 people—mostly wage earners—have $8,500,000.00 on deposit here, which speaks well for the thrift of our working people. Four per cent interest is paid, and as you can start with a dollar, no one should be without a bank account. You can also bank by mail. Write today for illustrated booklet No. 26.

PRISCILLA'S PENCIL

Greets all the girls with a hearty "good cheer" this Thanksgiving morning, and wishes that the feast established in the days of old by the hardy Puritans whom many of us may claim as ancestors may prove a merry one for all. There are many of Pittsburgh's daughters who will spend the day in the home circle, greeting family and friends around the traditional "laden table," and there are others away from home whose only Thanksgiving will be spent in "The cheerless precincts of a stranger's house." But to one and all good cheer, good cheer, and may the hours bring each real cause for thanksgiving ere the sun goes down.

An Impromptu Tea—

Designed for tonight by the sister of many brothers will have typical features at every turn. The table, which is to be set at 6 o'clock with substantial dainties like a country tea, or as our English cousins say a "high tea," will be round, and will have for its adorning figures a log house, around which dolls dressed in the Puritan garb will be grouped. Fruits and a few of the smaller vegetables which lend themselves readily to decoration will be scattered about, and the whole effect will strive to recall the ancient days. A set of old colonial china, prized in the family, is to be used, and as far as possible old shapes in silver. The menu will include fried oysters, boned cold turkey, chicken fricassee, and corn fritters—truly a Puritan combination. After tea the brothers will bring forth their mandolins, and the guests will have a genuine Thanksgiving evening, informal and homelike.

A November Bride—

Who has just returned from her wedding tour brings with her some article from each place where she stopped, to serve for her future home. As far as possible the souvenirs are typical; thus from Mexico comes a basket for fruit and another for flowers; from California was brought a handsome gold sugar spoon; from Washington a set of carved and inlaid frames, made of contrasting wood by the Indians; from Canada comes a fur rug, and from the cities nearer home articles equally desirable, though necessarily less typical of the places where they were purchased. She took pains to get everything good in quality and useful in character, so that in her pretty home she will have for years constant reminders of her first days of wedded happiness.

The Popular Thing—

For brides and grooms to do, so this young bride told me, is to make an occasion of each gift festival to add something to the home. Thus when the husband buys his bride a diamond pin, he likewise lays aside a certain sum to add to hers, so that they may "make the home a present," as they call it. This is an excellent idea, though perhaps not entirely original, and will aid materially in furnishing a home rapidly and prettily.

GOLF SEASON AT AN END.

Edgewood Forfeits Its Match to Allegheny and the Championship Rests With Highland.

The golf season of the Western Pennsylvania association closed yesterday when the Edgewood Golf club forfeited its match with Allegheny, on the latter's course. The weather was not inviting and the championship had already been won by Highland, so Edgewood could see no object in playing.

The winning of this match places Allegheny, the former champions, not only second by reason of number of games won and lost, but also in number of holes scored against opponents for the season. Edgeworth, however, had six less holes scored against them than Allegheny. Edgeworth's only defeats were two by Highland and two by Allegheny, the other members of the league being defeated in all contests. Edgeworth has the honor of giving Highland the closest call, with a score of 10 to 8 in the last match played at Sewickley. With all matches decided, the standing of the league is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Holes.	Opponents.
Highland	10	0	265	71
Allegheny	8	2	179	97
*Edgeworth	5	4	159	91
Edgewood	3	7	93	181
Pittsburgh	3	7	82	128
Westmoreland	0	10	26	300

*Edgeworth and Edgewood played a tie match, score of 16 to 16.

Big Gas Well Struck.

CELINA, O., Nov. 27.—At Chattanooga, O., 16 miles northwest of here, a gas well of terrific pressure has been struck at a depth of 700 feet. It blew out 385 feet of casing and tore the derrick to pieces. No one was injured.

THE SECRET OF STRENGTH.

The secret of strength is perfect digestion. This applies to mental strength as well as physical strength and is perfectly logical if you think about it for a moment.

Johann Hoff's Malt Extract always successfully helps digestion. Indeed, it is the perfect assimilator of food.

Every person who takes Johann Hoff's Malt Extract with his meals will realize the difference. Not only is the distress gone from the stomach but there is also the unmistakable prompting of strength and energy because the nutrition in the food is penetrating to every portion of the body.

JOHANN HOFF'S

Malt Extract

is not a stimulant with a reaction. It is a glorious aid to natural laws. These statements are facts, and the unimpeachable record of over half a century proves it. You won't find weaklings, physically or mentally, among those who use Johann Hoff's Malt Extract with their meals.

Dr. L. J. Schofield of Warrensburg, Mo., writes: I have been using Johann Hoff's Malt Extract in my practice and like it very much. It gives renewed and immediate strength while increasing appetite and digestion.

Beware of Imitations.

Be sure to get the Genuine JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT and you will not be disappointed.

AN ORDINANCE—Amending section 2 of an ordinance entitled "An ordinance authorizing the issue of eighty-three thousand ($83,000.00) dollars 'Public Safety Bonds' for the erection and completion of patrol stations and engine houses in the department of public safety in the City of Allegheny, and providing for the liquidation of the principal and payment of the interest thereof, and repealing ordinances approved the 7th day of January, A. D. 1901, and the 21st day of June, A. D. 1901," approved the 21st day of September, A. D. 1901.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the City of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That section 2 of an ordinance entitled "An ordinance authorizing the issue of eighty-three thousand ($83,000.00) dollars 'Public Safety Bonds' for the erection and completion of patrol stations and engine houses in the department of public safety in the City of Allegheny, and providing for the liquidation of the principal and payment of the interest thereof, and repealing ordinances approved the 7th day of January, A. D. 1901, and the 21st day of June, A. D. 1901," approved the 21st day of September, A. D. 1901, which reads:

"Section 2. Said bonds shall be registered in the office of the controller of the City of Allegheny and are to be in denominations of one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars each or a multiple thereof, payable as follows, to-wit: $3,000.00 on the first day of October, A. D. 1902, and a like sum of $3,000.00 on the first day of October of each year for a period of nineteen (19) years thereafter, and the sum of $4,000.00 on the first day of October, A. D. 1923, and a like sum of $4,000.00 on the first day of October of each year for a period of nine years thereafter. Said bonds shall bear date October 1, 1901, and bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per cent (3½ per cent) per annum, payable semi-annually at the office of the City Controller of the City of Allegheny, Pa., on the first day of April and the first day of October of each and every year until the same with the principal shall be fully paid, and the principal thereof shall be payable at their maturity at the same place. Said bonds are to be signed by the City Recorder and City Treasurer and countersigned by the City Controller, and sealed with the corporate seal of the city, and the proceeds thereof shall be applied exclusively to the erection and completion of patrol stations and engine houses in the department of public safety in the City of Allegheny, and to no other purpose whatsoever, and the same is hereby amended to read:

Sec. 2. Said bonds shall be registered in the office of the controller of the City of Allegheny and are to be in denominations of one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars each or a multiple thereof, payable as follows, to-wit: $2,000.00 on the 1st day of October, A. D. 1902, and a like sum of $2,000.00 on the 1st day of October of each year for a period of sixteen (16) years thereafter, and the sum of $3,000.00 on the 1st day of October, 1918, and a like sum of $3,000.00 on the 1st day of October of each year for a period of twenty-two (22) years thereafter. Said bonds shall bear date October 1, 1901, and bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per cent (3½ per cent) per annum, payable semi-annually at the office of the city controller of the City of Allegheny, Pa., on the 1st day of April and the 1st day of October of each and every year until the same with the principal shall be fully paid, and the principal thereof shall be payable at their maturity at the same place. The Stars and Wash.-Jeff. Will Do Battle on a Frozen Gridiron.

MANY TRICK PLAYS WILL BE TRIED

Both Elevens Have Practiced on Surprise Plays They Hope to Put Through—Advance Sale Shows a Big Crowd Will See the Game.

Everything is in readiness for the annual football game between the Homestead and Washington and Jefferson football elevens at Exposition park this afternoon, and the struggle promises to be one which will please the most exacting critics. The indications are that the crowd will be a very large one, the advance sale of seats being unusually heavy.

The one thing needed to make all things complete is the weather. Still the players do not bother much about that, and the more severe the weather the harder the struggle. There was a gang of laborers at work at the park yesterday afternoon fixing up the gridiron and getting it into playing shape. This task was a rather hard one, as the field was badly torn up by the W. & J. and Carlisle players last Saturday. The ground was very soft on that day and players sank ankle deep in the mud. These imprints were allowed to remain, and as the ground dried up they left the field in an awful shape. The laborers partly succeeded in remedying this, still the field is very hard and when a player is brought down on it he will realize that he is getting a good, hard bump.

The weather conditions must be pretty severe when it forces football players to don caps and other headgear in order to protect themselves. That was the condition of affairs over at the park yesterday afternoon, and when Capt. Fultz marched his players out on the field they presented a very funny appearance. The majority of the players had dug up old caps, straw hats, etc., and those who could not find a headcovering devised something for a substitute. Bemis Pierce cut a section off the leg of playing trousers, tied it at the top and with that for a cover, presented a funny sight, indeed.

Capt. Fultz, however, did not give his men much of a chance to stand around and shiver, but got them to work at once and the practice was very spirited. It started as usual, with punting, then followed signal practice and a number of trick plays which will be tried today were worked out. The only absentees were Pete Overfield, who is confined to bed and is not likely to play today, and John Gammons, who was having his sore knee dressed. Capt. Fultz said he would start the game with his regular team, and would not make any changes unless compelled to.

There was no action reported yesterday as to that post-season game on Saturday with the Philadelphia star eleven. The Homestead players are guessing on the matter, and are all at sea. Some of them think the game will be played, while others think not. Roller, the A. C. & A. C. player who was Philadelphia's bright particular star on last Saturday, was in the city yesterday. He was on his way to Franklin, where he is to play for Teck Mathews' team in a championship game today. Roller reports that the Philadelphia players are more than anxious for another chance at the stars. The line-up for today will be as follows:

HOMESTEAD.		W. & J.
Hunt	L. E.	Sutter
H. Pierce	L. T.	Lang
B. Pierce	L. G.	Murphy
Sherring	Center	Hammer
Mosse	R. G.	Sefton

ARMY AND NAVY GAME.

It Will Be Witnessed by the President and Many Distinguished Officials.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—Preparations for the army and navy game on Franklin field on Saturday, which will be witnessed by President Roosevelt, are rapidly nearing completion. Never before in the history of football in this city has there been such a great demand for tickets. All those who will see the game will be guests of either the University of Pennsylvania or of the academies, no tickets being sold for the contest. Following out his custom of the past two years, the university tenders Franklin field as a neutral ground for the contest. Pennsylvania bears the entire expense. The university retains about 10,000 tickets and the Annapolis and West Point academies distribute the remainder of the 22,000 cards of admission. The enormous demand for tickets this year is due to the announcement that the president will attend the game. The university authorities say that applications for tickets from Pennsylvania alone have been fully 20,000 above the seats at the disposal of the athletic association.

President Roosevelt will arrive here Saturday morning, accompanied by a number of other government officials. The party will be escorted to the grounds by army and navy officers. During the first half of the contest the president will sit with the followers of one of the academies, and during the 15 minutes intermission between the halves he will be escorted across the field and will occupy a seat with the sympathizers of the other academy for the remainder of the game. The president will return to Washington immediately after the contest.

Invitations have been sent to the Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Columbia and Cornell teams to witness the game, and members of each team have signified their intention of being present. Altogether the event is expected to bring together the most distinguished assemblage that has ever seen a football game.

Among the Amateurs.

The Verner A. C. and Carnegie A. C. of Braddock will line up this morning at 10:15 o'clock sharp.

The football season at Irwin closes today with a game between the Irwin high school team and the Crescent A. C. of Wilkinsburg.

Admiral A. C. and Bellevue will clash on the gridiron today at 3:30 p. m. No doubt this will be a great game. Saturday, November 30, Admiral will end the season playing Harmony A. C. at Schenley park.

The Crescent A. C. play at Monongahela City today, and all players must positively be at Union Station at 10:15 a. m. to take train. The Crescents close the season next Saturday with a game on Pittsburgh college grounds with the crack Lyceum team.

The Original Franklins play the Carnegie high school two games today, first at 10:30 o'clock, and following will report 9:30 sharp at Logan and Fifth avenues: Davis, H. and B. Martin L. and J. Van Luen, J. and B. Ryan, Rosen, Perrin, Kuhn, Resnick, Brody and Sligh.

The Sterling A. C. of Wilkinsburg will leave for Ligonier this morning and contest for football supremacy with the team of that place. The Sterlings will have about 16 men in their squad and as they have been putting up a good game thus far this season, a good contest may be looked for.

This Thanksgiving morning at Recreation park the Tigers Juniors of Allegheny and the McKeever Academy Reserves will meet for the second time this season and will decide the 90-pound championship of Allegheny Western Pennsylvania. The last time they met the Tiger Juniors defeated the McKeever Academys in a fiercely fought game by a score of 10-0. Each team has been in hard practice for several weeks and the Tigers' Buckneil coaching will now be put to its hardest test. Ticket receipts already assure a large crowd, which is the hope of the management as a game of superior quality is sure to be seen when these old rivals line up against each other again. Kick-off at 10:15 a. m.

CRACKS STILL COMING.

Local Hockey Teams Will Be Made Up of Canadian Ice Experts.

There was agitation in hockey circles yesterday over a heavy arrival of Canadian cracks all for the strengthening of the Keystones. The Bicycle club has made a heavier draft on the Dominion this year than any of the clubs. Westcott, Peel, Hern and Morrison all reached town yesterday, while Sammons and Young got in on Tuesday. Al Smith, P. A. C.'s one importation and a crack at wing, is also here as is Campbell, the latest acquisition of the Bankers. Dicky Boon, the Bankers' last coverpoint, will not arrive until December 3, by special suspension of the rule requiring all to be here by the first game tomorrow night. Bish, Taylor, Cameron and Richardson have been here for some time.

The Banker management announced yesterday all claim to Bert Hill, the Keystone man, mailing Keystone the contract signed by Hill after he had signed with Keystone. Phymister is reserved by Keystone when they play the Bankers while Stoebener will play for no team but Keystone, but belongs to the Bankers. This matter had yet to be straightened out. The official makeup of the teams is as follows:

P. (champions)—Shields and Smith, wings; Robinson, center; Reyner, forward; Hamilton, coverpoint; Curtin, point; Lamb, goal. Also, Fisher, Diebold and Ogden, Charles Miller and C. C. Pratt, manager.

Keystone—Westcott and Stoebener, wings; Young, forward; Bert Hill, center; Peel, coverpoint; Morphy, point; Hern, goal. Also, Phymister, Morrow, Cameron and Sammons. Manager, Walter Thompson.

Bankers—Howard and Clement, wings; Campbell, forward; Taylor, center; Morrell coverpoint; Henderson, point; Richardson, goal. Managed by Henderson.

THE LAST BIG GAME.

Pennsy and Cornell Ready for Today's Struggle — Woodruff Given Three Cheers.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—Pennsylvania ends the football season tomorrow with the annual Thanksgiving day game with Cornell. For the first time in the history of this contest Cornell has come to Franklin Field confident of victory. Still there is a tradition among the students of the Red and Blue that Cornell can never win on Franklin Field, and so strong is this that even the expressed confidence of the visiting Cornell students is tinged with hesitancy.

Pennsylvania took her final practice for the game this afternoon after Cornell had left the field. As soon as the team was on the field the men grouped together and gave three long hurrahs for Woodruff. The practice of the team was of the lightest possible order. The men ran through a signal practice and then practiced kicking against the wind and booting goals from placement. Cornell's football players, 40 strong, reached Philadelphia this morning. Besides the varsity men and subs, the party included Coaches Starbuck, Reed, Duvall, Coe; Trainer Moakley and three assistants.

The Cornell party put in the morning walking about the city, and after lunch every man went to his room to lie down for an hour. At 2 o'clock shortly after 2 o'clock—then two big busses drove away from the Walton, carrying the Ithacans to Franklin Field, where Coaches Starbuck and Reed were to give their pets their final instructions. Today's line-up will be:

Pennsylvania.		Cornell.
Nelson	L. E.	Turnbull
Pickerell	L. T.	Hardie (Loader)
Bennett	L. G.	Warner (Capt.)
McCabe	Center	Kent
Teas	R. G.	Hunt
Baird	R. T.	Smith
Gardiner	R. E.	Thydeman
Howard	Q. B.	Brewster

CORBETT MONEY IS VERY SCARCE

CHAMPION M'GOVERN'S ADMIRERS FIND TROUBLE GETTING BETS.

Both Fighters Say They Are in Fine Shape—The Western Fighter Is Full of Confidence, and Declares He Will Be the Winner—McGovern Hopes That the Contest Will Be a Fast One.

HARTFORD, CONN., Nov. 27.—The fight for the featherweight championship of the world between Terry McGovern of Brooklyn, the present holder of the title, and Billy Rothwell, better known as "Young Corbett," of Denver, Colo., which is to take place tomorrow afternoon before the Nutmeg Athletic club, has caused an unusual stir in this city. When the trains reached the Hartford depot today sporting men from Boston and New York, as well as many from southern and western points, leaped from them and scurried for accommodations in the hotels in the vicinity.

So many excellent reports of the fitness of "Young Corbett" have been current that opinions of staunch adherents of the champion have been slightly shaken. None of the New York contingent here has yet shown any weakness in this respect, and many of them are flashing money on the McGovern side with very weak responses from the opposite camp. That the contestants are pretty equally matched as to height, girth and age there is no question. Everyone who has seen McGovern fight knows that the champion is a rugged, intrepid, two-handed boxing machine, and, while the newcomer has shown a world of cleverness and nearly every essential point, no one seems satisfied that he is up to a gueling mix up.

When seen at his quarters this evening Young Corbett was enjoying a supper which was large enough to satisfy the appetite of a hard-worked farm hand. He looked like a mild-mannered student just enjoying a brief vacation and showed no signs of nervousness.

"I feel fine," he said in answer to a volley of questions. "I am a way below the limit, or I would not be eating so heartily," he continued. "I will weigh in all right at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Behind I am not underrating my opponent when I say that I believe I will win. I will go to bed at 9 o'clock tonight as I always read myself to sleep."

The little western lad then left the room and as he went he was the recipient of many wishes of "Good luck" from several of those who were nearby. His manner and bearing since his arrival here have gained many friends for the Colorado boxer.

Auce Rice, the featherweight who has fought 125 battles and has never suffered a knock out, and Hugh McPadden of Brooklyn, will challenge the winner of the fight.

INNING FOR FAVORITES.

Four of Them Got to the Front at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Favorites finally had an inning at Oakland today, four of them getting home in front. The Flying handicap, the feature of the card, resulted in a victory for Mechanus, the favorite. Sombrero, probably, was the best, and finished a good second after being shut off twice. Lodestar and Herculean engaged in a stirring finish in the last race, Spencer gaining the verdict for the former. The track was still heavy and slow time was the rule. Mounce and J. Woods each rode two winners. Nineteen books were in line, an increase of three. Summary:

First race, 5 furlongs, for 2-year-olds, selling—Botany, 110, J. Woods, 3 to 1, won; Marello, 110, Mounce, 12 to 1, second; Bendara, 112, Mathews, 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:04. Minitaka, Cathello, Robert Bonner II., Prestano and The Maniac also ran.

Allegheny League Team Beaten.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The Y. M. C. A. basketball team defeated the Allegheny league team, along with several additional stars from the major league, tonight in one of the fastest games played here. It was National league rules. Score first half, Y. M. C. I. 20, Allegheny 5. Second half, 8 to 4 in favor of locals. Line-up:

Y. M. C. I.—28.		Allegheny—9.
Gaughen	R. F.	Gersler & Hadock
Murphy	L. F.	Roberts
Hamilton	C. E.	Siebel & Hyder
Hauser	R. G.	Delf
Needham	L. G.	Rable

Westminster's Final Game.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—The Westminster eleven will go to Meadville tomorrow, where they will meet Allegheny in the closing game of the season. The two elevens are evenly matched, though the victory of the Meadville collegians over W. U. P. on Saturday indicates unexpected strength and renders the issue more than ever doubtful. The Westminster men who will play tomorrow are: Center, Parsell; guards, Samble and Mayberry; tackles, Campbell and Porter; ends, Tennent and Moore; quarter, Neville; halfbacks, Lahle and McKay; fullback, Donaldson. Substitutes, Deevers, Briceland and Cleland.

QUAKER CITY DOG SHOW.

It Opened Yesterday and High-Class Dogs Are There.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—The annual exhibition of the Philadelphia Dog Show association opened today at Horticultural hall. There are 1,200 exhibits, including numerous prize winners in previous shows. There are several entries from Great Britain and continental Europe. For the first time in the history of dog shows the list of awards includes prizes offered by clubs of Russia, Holland and Sweden.

The Holland club offers two silver medals and the Russian association offers the Alexander Star, an award for which there is keen competition.

In the class of high-bred dogs the team of great danes from the Montecono kennels and about a dozen large St. Bernards aroused a great deal of interest. Richard Croker, Jr.'s bulldogs Rodney Stone and Persimmons attracted attention by their ferociousness and physique.

DIRECTUM WAS SOLD.

The One-Time Champion Brought in $12,100.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Directum at one time champion trotting stallion, with a record of 2:05¼, was bought at the Fasig-Tipton sale today by the international stock farm of Minneapolis for $12,100. When the horse was brought into the ring he was walked around for a few minutes, and it was noticed that he showed signs of lameness. The first bid was from John P. Madden, who offered $4,000. Carl Barr jumped it to $5,000. Madden increased the bid and stayed in until after the $9,000 mark. Two unknown bidders then took a hand, as did W. H. Savage, for the international stock farm, Minneapolis. Between these the competition continued by hundred dollar bids to $12,000, and then an extra hundred secured the animal for Mr. Savage.

PADDED THEIR TEAM.

Oil City Gets a Lot of Stars to Meet Franklin.

OIL CITY, PA., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Interest in the game scheduled for tomorrow between Oil City and Franklin is intense in both towns, the old-time rivalry between the two places having broken out with all its by-gone fierceness. Betting is brisk, the Franklin backers freely offering odds.

Today it was learned that the Oil City management have strengthened with Horne, U. of P.; Hamilton, Thiel college; Connelly, University of Buffalo; Reiter and Langer, two of the All-Star of Philadelphia, and Nalen, "the Ohio Gladiator." Franklin's confidence is unshaken, although theodds have been lowered.

Harley Threatens to Jump.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Dick Harley, the Reds' outfielder, has sent word to Manager McPhee that he must be traded by Thursday or he will jump to the American league. The chances are that he will be allowed to jump.

THE THREE RIVERS.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 27.—The towboat Allen Brown will be let off the mining days on Saturday, and she will proceed up stream for Pittsburgh. The Heatherington, now at Coal Haven, will be taken on in her place. The tow of the Pittsburgh fleet is expected to reach here late tomorrow. The Kanawha shippers are preparing to get coal out on the rise. The smaller dealers will be the only ones who will get coal out, as the large companies got theirs during last week. ONLY BARGE WATER NOW.

Ohio River Has Fallen Slowly—Coal Is Still Going Out.

Shipments of coal boats down the Ohio river have ceased. The river has fallen so that only barges can be moved. The shipments made on this rise, up until 6 o'clock last night, totaled 5,617,600 bushels. The independent companies made shipments that will swell this total to about 7,000,000 bushels.

The Peoples Coal Company was the largest independent shipper, sending about 600,000 bushels. This company will start the towboats Gleaner and G. W. Thomas out today with large tows. These steamers are new to Pittsburgh waters. The W. C. Jutte and R. L. Aubrey each took five barges.

The Budd Coal Company has started 500,000 bushels, the John C. Fisher taking out a good slice. The Eleanor and the Hunter No. 2 helped out the Gilmore for this company. The Flint Coal Company sent the W. H. Flint with 250,000 bushels. The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company sent these boats yesterday: Robert Jenkins, 10 barges; Charles Hook, five barges; Stella Moren, seven barges; Tornado, 12 barges; Volunteer, 11 barges. The John Wood Tuesday sank 3 barges at Economy and the Harry Brown left one in the landing at Industry. M. Carroll of No. 2 Water street, Pittsburgh, was drowned by falling overboard. His body has not been recovered.

There has been no breaks in the pilots' ranks as far as could be learned, and they are still on strike. Most of the strikers remained at home yesterday, and no further test of strength is now expected until another coal boat stage of water develops in the Ohio river.

Arrivals.

Capt. John Howder yesterday shipped as master of the towboat, John C. Fisher. The boat is on her way south, and is being piloted by John L. Kerr and John McDavid.

The R. L. Aubrey and W. C. Jutte made repairs to their boilers yesterday, but were not as usual last night, taking coal down the Ohio river.

The Gleaner arrived early last night and the new G. W. Thomas was expected to arrive shortly after midnight from Jeffersonville, Ind.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure All, Nor a Modern Miracle, but Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic, and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the best. They are sure of this claim, and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia who will give the remedy a fair trial will find that most conclusive proof is given for it that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest and most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest all the wholesome food you may put into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach, which rapidly regains its natural strength, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Any druggist will tell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give universal satisfaction. 1128xxpl

STEEL COMBINE RETURNS LOAN

Underwriting Syndicate Still Exists Ready to Meet Any Emergency.

MORGAN DISCLAIMS ANY COMPENSATION

Statement of the United States Corporation's Net Earnings by Months—Syndicate in Readiness to Advance Funds.

(PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The members of the United States Steel underwriting syndicate received checks today for the amount of money they advanced to defray the expenses of bringing Mr. Morgan's combine into existence last February and taking care of the same until it was able to take care of itself. Of the amount subscribed—$200,000,000—only 12½ per cent., or $25,000,000, was ever called by the United States Steel Corporation, and this was the amount paid back today. James R. Keene, who, besides being a member of the underwriting syndicate, has managed its market affairs, issued this statement the first thing this morning:

"This money has been returned because it is no longer needed. The earnings of the company are so large that before the end of its fiscal year the steel company will have $75,000,000 of working capital. The return of the $25,000,000 does not change the position of the $200,000,000 syndicate, which is still intact and under the steel stocks. The net profits of the steel company for October were about $11,000,000."

The Syndicate's Compensation.

The relations between an underwriting syndicate and a new corporation are never made public, for very obvious reasons; but before they are at an end Wall street usually contrives to form pretty accurate conclusions as to the bonuses and other unwritten things involved. It is quite generally understood that the United States Steel syndicate was given a bonus of about $50,000,000 in common and preferred stock, and of this amount Mr. Keene is believed to have had $1,000,000.

The banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., of course, has always been recognized as the head of the syndicate, but there has been official denial that it participated in the $50,000,000 bonus. In the application to list United States Steel securities on the New York stock exchange the following statement appeared:

"It is proper to state that J. P. Morgan & Co. are to receive no compensation for their services as syndicate managers, beyond a share in any sum which ultimately may be realized by the syndicate."

Of course, the sum "ultimately realized" may yield Mr. Morgan a handsome profit. It probably does, but it is insisted officially that he had no part in the bonus set aside for members of the underwriting syndicate. This syndicate was composed of prominent financial interests, both in this country and in Europe, and was made to include many of the large interests of the companies taken into the combine. It was invested with unusual powers of discretion, its latitude extending even to active support of the steel shares in the stock market.

Still Ready to Advance Money.

The return of the money advanced by the syndicate is understood not to terminate its existence. It still stands prepared to advance as much, or more, in any emergency that might develop. The release of this money from the vaults of J. P. Morgan & Co. is not expected to affect the money market. It is simply a transfer of $25,000,000 from the joint account of the syndicate to the individual accounts of its members. It is probable, of course, that some of it will find its way into the market, but it is not to be considered as a gain cash for the New York banks.

The earnings of the United States Steel Corporation since it began business are given by months as follows: April, $7,856,744; May, $8,212,349; June, $9,394,747; July, $9,580,151; August, $9,200,000; September, $9,200,000; October, $11,000,00, and November (estimated), $11,500,00, a total for the eight months of $78,054,871. The dividend and interest requirements for the eight months have amounted to $72,000,000, leaving more than $6,000,000 net for the period under review. If it were possible for earnings to continue during the remaining four months of the corporation's first fiscal year at the rate of those for October and November, there would be a net result of very nearly $50,000,000; but this, of course, is a much too sanguine calculation. It is unreasonable to expect that earnings will continue at the rate of more than $5,000,000 from now until the end of next March. A falling off in revenue from transportation alone would prevent this.

Growing Locomotive Business.

Interesting data concerning locomotives is presented in Wall street today. Between June 30, 1899, and June 30, 1900, the net increase in the number of locomotives in service in the United States was 960. In the previous year the increase was 469, and the year before that, 248. The average increase between June, 1884, and June, 1900, has been 310 a year. It is estimated that 5 per cent of the locomotives in use wear out each year, on which calculation, 1,835 locomotives may be said to have reached the scrap pile last year. During the fiscal period of 1899-00, 36,703 locomotives were in use in the United States. If the net increase for the period of 12 months, therefore, was 960, and if only 1,835 were discarded, the approximate number of new locomotives introduced ought to have been 2,795.

The capacity of the American Locomotive Company is 1,600 engines a year, and this is to be increased to 2,000 a year. The Baldwin works turn out about 1,500 a year, and the Rogers works, about 250 a year. Without doubt the capacity of these is also to be increased, which would make the prospective maximum about 4,000 locomotives a year, or about 1,200 in excess of the average demand. This calculation, however, does not take into consideration the export business or the extraordinary demand that has developed here within the past few months. The locomotive companies are booked far ahead exclusively for the home market, the export field meanwhile, having been neglected.

More Gold Exports Threatened.

Wall street was given a momentary chill today by an advance of ½-cent in sterling exchange here, a decline of Paris exchange on London almost to a point at which engagements of gold shipments might be resumed, and a cable dispatch from Berlin stating that German bankers expect to get more gold from New York. The alarm was quickly dispelled, however, by the confidence of New York bankers that the movement for the renewal of gold exports is not likely for the present. Call money declined in the face of a rise in sterling exchange. The average rate that obtained today was 3½ per cent. E. W. HARDEN.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Latest Finds in Gold, Silver, Copper and Other Metals in the Far Western States.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A rich gold strike is reported in the Gray and Wing at Folsom, Cal. Prospects range from $15 to $90 to the ton, and in four days $5,000 was taken out.

New Westminster (B. C.) reports that a five-foot ledge of carrying 18 per cent molybdenum has been uncovered in the St. Paul group on St. Paul mountain.

Leasers of the mines at Tonopah, Nev., expect to ship ore worth $300,000 next month. The leases expire December 21 and will not be renewed.

One of the biggest ledges in the country is exposed in the Zenda, near Randsburg, Cal. It is about 150 feet wide and can be traced the full length of the claim. The pay streak assays as high as $10,000 in gold and silver at a depth of ten feet.

Cincinnati men have organized a company with a capital of $1,600,000, to work the Union Jack, on Porcupine creek, near Nelson, B. C. Five distinct veins assaying pay ore are already disclosed in the property.

An expert has been examining the Scramble, near Rat Portage, Ont., in the interest of a New York syndicate. This mine has a ledge of 300 feet in width that carries values ranging from $4 20 to $126 gold.

The Red Oak Company has struck a foot of solid ore in the Scepter tunnel level near Georgetown, Col., which runs high in lead, silver and gold.

Ore assaying from $4 to $6 gold and $8 to $6 silver has been encountered in a quiniver location near Almaden, Cal. The presence of precious metals in the district is a surprise to mining men, as it has heretofore only been prospected for quicksilver.

LEADERS WERE FIRST TO SUFFER

Wall Street Bears Drive Back Advancing Prices of Securities

Bears Take Advantage of Hesitation and Make a Successful Attack.

AMALGAMATED COPPER IS STEADIER

Pressure of the Last Few Days Was Relaxed Somewhat--Quieter Tone of This Stock Was a Relief to the Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—There was a good deal of hesitation about the speculation on the stock exchange today. There were a number of conspicuous advances, which failed to attract any considerable following or to reflect any marked influence on the general list. The selling pressure, however, was not acute. There was moderate realizing whenever the strength of the market permitted, but it was not urgent, and was not pushed at the expense of values. The bears made an attack on the market late in the day, encouraged by the manifest hesitation of the buying, and succeeded in reducing the price level considerably, especially at points where it had been advanced in the morning. The strong stocks were influenced apparently by individual causes, and their movement was not accompanied by any news to explain it. Sugar was actively traded in all day, and was lifted an extreme 3¼. Manhattan maintained its recent aggressive strength, and advanced 2 points further. General Electric added 7½ points to its yesterday's jumps, but lost all but 1 point of the gain before the close. The recent severe pressure against Amalgamated Copper was relaxed, and that stock rallied 1⅞ after reacting to a shade under last night, but became comparatively steady above that. The quieter tone of this stock was a relief to the whole market, and the violent break in the raw copper market in London, and the heavy selling of Rio Tintos in Paris did not seem to affect it. There were various other points of strength among minor railroad stocks in the group of coalers and Southwesterns, and a large demand for Southern Railway preferred lifted it at one time 1⅝. Evansville & Terre Haute gained 4. New York Central was under pressure at different times on account of the failure of developments on the rumored Vanderbilt plan at yesterday's meeting of directors of the Vanderbilt railroads. There was more or less speculation based on rumors that the president's forthcoming message was to take strong ground for the federal control of restriction of great corporations, including the Northern Securities Company. There was some revived apprehension of further gold exports, induced by the further rise in foreign exchange, the hardening of money rates in London, and the renewed decline in sterling exchange at Paris, all of which developments go to intensify the pressure upon New York for gold. The expressed confidence of Berlin financiers, according to cabled reports, that further gold was to go from New York to that point was also a disquieting influence. Berlin reports the first awakening from the long continued stagnation in its stock market, and it is said that American capitalists have been watchful for a turning point in that market to take advantage of the depression of values for the placing of some capital.

WALL STREET FEATURES.

Total sales 739,400 shares.

Sugar was lifted 3½.

General Electric advanced 7½, but lost nearly all the gain in the bear raid.

New York Central under pressure.

Apprehension of further gold exports.

Anxiety concerning President Roosevelt's forthcoming message.

United States Steel common closed 42⅝.

United States Steel preferred closed 92¾.

The announcement that the United States Steel Corporation syndicate was returning to its subscribers the 12½ per cent of their subscriptions actually paid in, which amounted to $25,000,000, did not affect the corporation stocks, which maintained their recent stability. This operation is expected to figure principally in the loan item of the banks as a cancellation of loans. Last week's heavy loan contraction may find an explanation in this development.

The movement of prices of railroad bonds was irregular. Total sales par value $8,290,000.

United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

TRADERS CLOSED UP THEIR DEALS

Tendency Toward Weakness in Grains, but Prices Held Steady.

MILLERS WANT WHEAT DELIVERED

Holders of Long Lines at St. Louis Will Take the Goods—Receipts Large—Buying by Commission Houses Was a Feature.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Grains experienced dull and narrow markets of a holiday character today. December wheat closing ¼@¾c higher. December corn ⅛@¼c up and December oats unchanged. Provisions closed a fairly active trade, 15@17½c to 25c advanced.

Traders in the main desired to even up deals over Thanksgiving day and as a result showed little interest in wheat. The cable list was weak, bringing an opening for December unchanged at ⅛ to ¼@¼c lower, at 71⅜ to 71¾c. There was some fair commission house buying which kept prices steady, but the crowd and a few elevators were willing to sell, receipts were still heavy and the general early feeling was one of weakness. St. Louis showed remarkable strength and reported the condition as resulting from long lines held by Southern millers who will take the wheat on delivery. This influence coming late had only a small effect, that of sending a number of shorts to cover. December closed rather firm, ¼@⅜c higher, at 72¼c. Local receipts were 90 cars, 17 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 987 cars, making a total for the three points of 1,066, against 960 last week and 538 last year. Primary receipts were 1,085,000 bushels, compared with last year's 711,000 bushels. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 425,000 bushels.

A disposition on the part of several leading professional bulls to even up trades kept business dull in corn. There was some outstanding buying in small lots but about as much selling by prominent traders. Offerings were moderate and easier lower, but the cash demand firmly firm. December opened slightly easier and sold down quickly to 61¼. Shorts took advantage of the price and covered, and on the small advance in wheat December reacted and closed firm, ¼@¼c up at 62c. Receipts were very small at 51 cars.

Oats ruled easy early, following corn. The selling was mainly for the local account and there was some outside buying. Receiving houses sold liberally, indicating a free country movement. December, which opened ⅛c lower, fluctuated narrowly and closed steady, unchanged at 42¼c. Receipts were 182 cars.

Provisions were fairly active and ruled strong. Early prices were lower on a lower hog market, but a good demand from the country and from shorts brought sharp advances. January pork, which opened 12½c under yesterday, closed 25c higher, at $16 00. January lard closed 25c up, at $9 22½, and January ribs 15@17c higher, at $8 20.

Electric Seconds Were the Feature of the Local Stock Market

HEAVY BUYING SENT UP PRICE

Boom Was a Surprise, but the Traders Soon Took Hold, Making New Record.

STEEL COMPANY SHARES DULL AND LOWER

Switch and Signal Common Jumped $2 a Share—Fire Proofing Common Very Dull—Preferred Weaker—Coalers Declined.

The market on the Pittsburg stock exchange yesterday was, with a single exception, quite dull, narrow and rather heavy. The total sales amounted to over 6,200 shares, but out of this number 4,000 belonged to one stock. The trading was confined to but nineteen different stocks, bonds and receipts being almost completely ignored. Out of the nineteen only three issues advanced, ranging from ½ to $2, while eleven declined from ⅛ to $1, and five were unchanged. The close was dull and receptionary.

The feature of the day was in Westinghouse Electric seconds. A decided boom started at the first call, with bids of 72 for large blocks. Then the traders took a hand and the price jumped quickly to 74¾, a new high record. Afterward the excitement quieted down and the price reacted, but finally closed at 73¾, a gain of 1¾ for the day. Over 100 of the firsts sold, opening at 79 and closing at 78⅝, a loss of ⅝. Just what caused the advance in the seconds no one could tell, though there were various theories, the chief of which was that the movement was in sympathy with a remarkable advance in General Electric in the east. That company, it is said, is preparing to distribute a big bonus to its stockholders in the shape of a large issue of common stock. It is alleged that the issue will be about $17,000,000, which will bring the stock up to about $42,000,000. It is further reported each stockholder will receive 66 2-3 per cent of his present holdings and that the distribution will probably be made in the early spring. Another report is that the earnings of the General Electric Company for October broke all records and exceeded $1,000,000, while the gross profits for the current year are figured at about $9,000,000, on a gross business estimated at $32,000,000, against a gross business of $20,000,000 and gross profits of $6,000,000 a year ago. From this it is argued that the Westinghouse Electric Company is doing equally as well, if not better. Still another reason assigned for the boom was that the buying was for Boston account and was of an exceptionally good character. There was no talk of a combine of the two companies, something that usually accompanies a rise in the stock of either.

Another Westinghouse stock, Union Switch & Signal common, participated in the advance, advancing $2 a share on sales of 100 at 72¼. More was wanted. Airbrake did not sell, but was quoted at 172 bid, 175 asked. In the remainder of the list there was little of interest. One lot, 50 shares, of Window Glass common sold at 55¼, a decline of ¼. Ice common was very weak and $1 lower at 13½ for 310 shares. Crucible Steel common lost ¼ and the preferred ⅛, both being very dull and rather easier. United States Steels did not sell. Fire Proofing common almost dropped out of sight, only 15 shares selling at 34, the last price. The preferred lost ½ at 41¾ for 200. River Coal preferred advanced ½ at 42½ and Pittsburg Coal issues were fractionally lower and dull. Pressed Steel Car lost $1 at 85 for 10 shares. The other sales were unimportant. In the quotations, Fidelity Title & Trust Company declined $1 to $450 asked. Bank of Secured Savings advanced ½ to 65½ bid, Dollar Savings Fund & Trust $1 to $216 bid, Third National Bank of Allegheny $1 to $206 bid and Peoples National Gas & Pipeage Company ½ to 25½ bid, all being new high records.

After the first call Sproul & Co. sold 100 Fire Proofing preferred and at the last call 100 more. Wettengel bought 125.

The only sale of Window Glass common at the first call was 50 shares at 55¼, which N. W. Stevenson sold to McMullin.

The report that the United States Steel Corporation is seeking control of the William Cramp & Sons Ship & Engine Building Company is authoritatively denied.

At the first call Sproul & Co. sold 75 Pittsburgh Coal preferred to Holmes and Hill sold 50 Pressed Steel Car common to E. Schmidt.

A Boston dispatch says the earnings of the General Electric Company for October exceeded all previous records, amounting to $1,000,000.

All the stock exchanges and financial institutions in the United States will be closed today on account of Thanksgiving. They will resume Friday at the usual hours.

R. C. Hall offered 1,500 Philadelphia company at 48 at the first call. He also offered 500 National Fire Proofing common at 35, and bid 47½ for 500 Philadelphia common.

At the second call A. C. Wettengel sold 100 Consolidated Ice common to Miller, and Hill bought 60 from the first call from Robinson. Miller sold 100 to J. M. Anderson and Schmidt bought 50 from John Ramsey.

The principal sellers of Westinghouse Electric seconds yesterday were: George Hill & Co., 850 shares; Carothers & Co., and Robinson Bros., 1,000 each, and Darr & Moore 500. The largest buyers were: Humphries Miller, 1,020; Walker, 400; Robinson Bros., 425; Sproul & Co., 400; Carothers & Co., 300; W. A. Cutcheon, 200; Speer Bros., 175; R. C. Hall, 150; H. A. Martin, 125, and Barbour, 120.

J. P. Morgan & Co. gave notice yesterday that they were prepared to purchase 25 per cent original subscription to the United States Steel syndicate. This means the syndicate members will be returned the full amount. Regarding this decision Mr. Keene is quoted as saying: "The $25,000,000 called up by the United States Steel syndicate has been returned. Checks were received this morning. The money was returned because there was no longer need of it. The syndicate's purchases were so large that before the end of the fiscal year the steel company will have $75,000,000 working capital." Mr. Keene said the return of the $25,000,000 does not change the completion of the $200,000,000 syndicate, which is still intact and under the steel shares.

Dividends and Earnings.

Earnings of Wabash for October, net increase $80,255.

The earnings of Big Four for the third week in November decreased $7,415.

The earnings of United States Steel for October are estimated at $11,000,000.

The Tamarack Mining Company has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of $10 a share.

The Lawrence Manufacturing Company has declared a dividend of 3 per cent, payable December 2.

Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh earned $123,446, an increase of $21,154, for the third week in November.

Earnings of the C. C. & C. the third week of November decreased $7,415; from July 1 increased $743,814.

Earnings C. I. & L. for the third week of November increased $10,961; from July 1 increased $248,812.

Earnings American Central the third week of November increased $13,329; from January 1 decreased $41,024.

1 per cent on the common. The dividends are payable January 2. Books close December 11 and reopen January 16.

Directors of Chicago & Eastern Illinois declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred and a semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent and an extra dividend of 2.

An official of the Atchison says he does not expect $3 million increase monthly the entire fiscal year, but does claim the year's earnings will equal last year's. The showing for four months thus far is sufficient evidence.

The directors of the Republic Iron & Steel Company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock. L. C. Hanna has been elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Barret Ridgley.

PITTSBURGH PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Hay, Grain and Feed.

Notwithstanding the fact that western markets reported an easier feeling in oats the local situation was firm, with prices holding steady and demand active enough to prevent anything like a tendency toward weakness. Corn was steady, with quotations strong and maintained, although receipts showed a slight comparative increase. The strength is ascribed to unwavering, mid brain at Chicago and another dollar per ton yesterday, influenced by short supply on account of the congested condition at mills, where orders keep ahead of deliveries. The grain exchange will have no call today, remaining closed on account of the holiday.

Receipts bulletined: Manchester yards, 10 cars hay, 1 car feed, 10 cars corn, 5 cars oats; Pittsburg, mid brain & Chicago railroad, 1 car corn, 2 cars flour, 1 car hay; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 2 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 4 cars hay, 1 car oats; Wheeling, 1 car hay.

Following are the official quotations for hay, millfeed, corn, oats and straw corrected by the superintendent of the Pittsburgh grain exchange:

Fruits and Produce.

While statements of receipts of potatoes in the railroad yards indicate a considerable number of cars in the markets every day every firm, owing to the fact that sellers are unwilling to let stock go below one dollar per bushel and are all digging to their holdings rather than break this price, the result is that the sales from store are being made on the same basis as on tracks, receivers hauling into store all potatoes which will not bring prices asked and the new stock will be handled in the same way of weaker quotations.

Butter—Elgin creamery, prints, 27½@28c; 3-lb tubs, 26½@27c; Ohio and Parkersburg creamery, fancy print butter, 25@26c; fresh country roll, 16@17c; cooking butter, 14@16c.

Cheese—New York full cream, 11@11½c; Ohio, 11@11½c; Limburger, 9½@10c; Ohio Swiss, tubs, 13@14c; new York Swiss, tubs, 15@15½c; 20-lb block cheese, Swiss, new, 14½@15c; 5-lb brick cheese, 13@13½c; Limburger, new, 12½@13c.

Poultry and Game.

As predicted the market was well supplied with chickens yesterday, and there were enough turkeys to supply all buyers, although there was no surplus, and prices ruled stiff on a little in the afternoon. Dealers obtained 18 cents a pound for turkeys during the latter part of the day, and this price was readily paid. Ducks and geese were in fair demand request, and rabbits sold freely at quotations.

Chickens—Live hens, per lb, 7@8c; spring ers, 6@7c; roosters, 5@6c; turkeys, old, 8@9c; do spring, 8@9c; old turkeys, dressed, 14@15c; spring turkeys, dressed, 14@15c; hens, dressed, 13@14c; fresh spring, dressed, 15@ 16c; geese, live, 7@8c; ducks, 10@11c; do, dressed, 15@16c. Rabbits, 25@30c.

Provisions.

Smoked meats—Hams, over 16 lbs, 10½c; medium hams, 12 to 16 lbs, 10½c; small hams, 12 lbs and under, 11c; breakfast bacon, boneless boiled hams, 13½c; California hams, 8½c; shoulders, (New York cut), 8½c; shoulders, skinned, 8c.

Breakfast bacon—Rib, 8 to 10 lbs, 12½c; ribs, 10 to 12 lbs, 12½c; do back strips, 11c; do clear, 8 to 10 lbs, 12½c; do 10 to 12 lbs, 12½c; do 12 to 14 lbs, 11½c.

Dry salt meats—Sides extra short clear, 8½c; bellies (heavy), 20 to 25 lbs, 8c; bellies, under 20 lbs, 8½c.

Smoked meats—Sides (extra short clear), 9½c; bellies (heavy), 20 to 25 lbs, 9¾c; bellies, under 20 lbs, 10c.

Lard—Pure lard (tierces), 9½c. The advance for smaller packages over tierces is as follows: Barrels (about 240 lbs), ½c; tubs (about 100 lbs), ¼c; fancy tubs, not 60 lbs, ½c; wooden buckets, not 20 lbs, ⅝c; 50-lb tin pails, ¾c; 20-lb tin pails (6 in a case), ¾c; 10-lb tin pails (6 in a case), ⅞c; 5-lb tin pails (12 in a case), 1c; 3-lb tin pails (20 in a case), 1¼c.

Dried Fruits.

Prune packers in the Santa Clara valley say that the new crop prunes in the state are so large that they will not run to the usual figure in the situation, the unsold packs of last year being the obstruction to quickly advancing markets, and those old prunes are an unknown quantity. The trade made it will not be long, at the present rate of moving, until all new crop fruit is exhausted. Currants and raisins continue in active demand, the call for prompt shipments being heavier as numerously large for the time of year, for which some credit is given to the excellence of the stock.

Evaporated apricots, in bags, 10½@11c; 25-lb boxes, 11½c; in 3-lb prds in bulk, 9½@10c; 1-lb cartons, 10@11c; peaches, 8@12c; raisins, 1-lb pkgs, 9@10c; raisins, Muscatels, 2 and 4 crown, 50-lb boxes, 7½@7¾c per lb; seeded, 1-lb packages, 8@8½c; currants, cleaned, 25 and 50-lb packages, 8½@8¾c; California prunes, 4½@7½c.

Groceries.

While flour remains unchanged in price, wholesalers are still having some difficulty in securing supplies rapidly enough to take care of orders, on account of congested railroad conditions, aggravated by the long holiday shutdown. A demand reported yesterday that some large bakers were finding the present railroad tie-up a serious menace to uninterrupted business, and that a continuance of present conditions for any extended period would result in enforced shut-downs for lack of flour. Jobbers found themselves unable to secure deliveries of stock expected in yesterday, and are hampered in making shipments to customers on this account. Business in sugaries was quieter yesterday, trade of the two weeks just past having been unusually large, and retailers were well stocked for Thanksgiving day. Quotations all remain without change, with the various descriptions steady to strong. The raw sugar market continues steady, and a fair volume of orders is reported for refined.

Flour—Jobbers' price: Fancy spring patents, $3 90@4 00; fancy winter patents, $3 70@3 80; straight winter, $3 50@3 60; bakers' spring, $3 60@3 65; fancy XXX graham, $4 25@4 50; cornmeal, bbl, $3 75; 19-lb cotton bags, 21 cents.

Sugars—Standard granulated, 4.90c; fine granulated, bbl, 100-lb and 2-lb cotton bags, 4.90c; 60 2-lb cartons and 20 5-lb cotton bags, 5.05c; powdered, 5.00c; powdered XXXX, 5.15c; cubes, 5.15c; cut loaf, 5.50c; confectioners' A, 4.70c. No. 2 spot white, 4.65c; No. 3, 4.45c; No. 7 yellow, 4.20c; No. 8 do, 4.10c; No. 9 do, 4.05c. (Quotations are f. o. b. cars New York, which gives cost of sugar to nearest railroad station. The price for Pittsburgh is 15 cents per 100 lbs above these quotations.)

Cereals—Rolled oats, bbls, $5 00; kegs, $2 65; packages, $2 50@3 25. Oatmeal, bbls, $5 50; kegs, $2 60@2 70.

Molasses—Fancy refined, 30@32c; choice do, 26@28c; prime do, 23@25c; new open kettle, 40@44c; fancy syrups, 27@30c; sugar and cane, 23@24c; syrup in 2½-lb tin cans, $1 00 per doz.

Salt—No. 1, $1 00 per bbl; No. 1 extra, $1 10; dairy, $1 50; ice cream, $1 60; coarse, $1 00.

Coffee—Roasted, bulk Rio, 10½@12c; Santos, 22½@27½c; Maricaibo, 17@17½c; Peaberry, 17@18½c; Caracas, 13½@20c; Golden Rio, 12@15½c; Mocha, 25@28c. Roasted, put up in 1-lb packages, 1-lb bags, 11.80c (with rebate of ⅝c allowed to retailers); high grades, 1-lb pkgs, 15.80@17.30c.

Rice—Prime narrowfat, bu, $2 78@2 85; pea or navy, $2 00@2 15; do red kidney, bu, $2 80@2 85; lima beans, 6½c.

Peas—Dried peas, $1 40@1 45; Scotch, per bbl, $3 00@3 25; split peas, bbl, $5 85; less, 5c per lb.

Oil—Carbon, 110 degs, 9½c; headlight, 10c; water white, 10½c; Zyline, 14c; Ohio W. W. test, 10c; Lubricating, 22@30c; special brands, 26@43c; prime refined, 26c; linseed, 58c

CITY CAN TAX INCLINE PLANES

Judge Shafer Decides That These Structures Are Railroads.

DISMISSED BILL AGAINST THE CITY

Classification of the St. Clair Incline Plane Under the Act of 1859 for Taxation Purposes Led to an Equity Suit.

Judge John D. Shafer, in common pleas court No. 2, yesterday decided that inclines are subject to taxation. He dismissed the bill in equity of the St. Clair Incline Plane Company against the city of Pittsburgh and Delinquent Tax Collector Robert Ostermaier to restrain them from taxing its property under the act of 1859. Under this act the city has been assessing inclines upon the grounds that they are railroads.

The question arose as to whether or not an incline plane comes under the act referred to. Judge Shafer says he was not furnished with a description of the property, but it is evident that such a structure might be classed as a railroad. The judge does not agree with the plaintiff that the provisions of the act of 1876, under which the plaintiff company was chartered, makes its approaches to the station houses at the inclines public highways and for that reason this property is not taxable.

DENIES HER CHARGES.

Henry J. Kraus Says He Practiced No Fraud on Louise Engleman.

An answer was filed to the equity suit of Louise Engleman against Henry J. Kraus, in action to secure an accounting of rents and to give the plaintiff title to certain property. The plaintiff claimed that in 1896 she was involved in litigation, but did not have the funds to carry it on, and she accepted money from the defendant, who took a deed to her property in Harrison township with the understanding it was to be returned when desired. The plaintiff charged the defendant failed to carry out this agreement.

Kraus denies he pretended to be a friend of the plaintiff's, and declares the transaction was of a business nature, and that he practiced no fraud. He denies that he is wrongfully holding the property. In conclusion, he says the plaintiff previously filed a like bill, but it was dismissed.

Wants Policy Altered.

A bill was filed in the United States court by the Home Insurance Company of New York, against L. F. Loree, receiver of the Pittsburgh & Western Railway Company, asking for a change in the wording of the co-insurance clause set forth in the policy held by the defendant, and insuring the grandstand at Exposition park. The plaintiff states that at the time the policy was made the company neglected to change the word "fire" to "storm or loss" and now asks that this change be made.

Charge Fraud and Misconduct.

An affidavit of defense was filed in the suit of Samuel Sternberg against the West Chester Fire Insurance Company of New York, to recover on a policy. It is denied the plaintiff's loss to stock by fire was $2,735.01, but was not more than $500. It is not denied that appraisers awarded the sum claimed, but it is alleged they were guilty of fraud and misconduct, and that Simon Grossman, named as an appraiser by the plaintiff, was not disinterested, as he was a creditor of Sternberg's.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The schedule of John Hickman of Venango county gives his liabilities as $1,914 and assets at $896.

Royal N. Marlett, laborer, of Warren, filed a petition in bankruptcy showing liabilities of $8,294 and assets of $4,000.

The jury in the case of the Evansville Contract Company against the Ft. Pitt Gas Company brought in a verdict of $33,730 58 for the plaintiff.

A. C. Frey began mandamus proceedings to compel Justice of the Peace Charles R. Engel of McKees Rocks to furnish him with a transcript in a case.

An answer was filed in the divorce suit of Charles A. Stephan against Margaret A. Stiethahn. The respondent denies the charge of cruel treatment and accuses her husband of desertion.

Suit was entered by Mary Westfallen against John Hochstetter for $2,000 damages for alleged slander. The plaintiff says the defendant said she induced Fred Fisher to commit perjury.

In the cast of Martha Pohl against Ferdinand Maisch, the jury awarded the plaintiff $571 88 damages. She went to the defendant's butcher shop in Allegheny and was bitten by his dog.

Executions were issued as follows: Hiram Crawford vs. J. M. Courtney, $315; Pittsburgh Abattoir Company, Limited, vs. Louis H. Bittner, $423; the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings vs. Mrs. Lizzie Creighton, $462.

Mary A. Whalen filed a petition to become a femme sole trader. She accuses her husband, Joseph E. Whalen, with drunkenness and neglect and says to support herself and children she went into the restaurant business.

Lawrence Sloan, Harvey Sloan, Harry Bremar and William F. Seanor, all of Pittsburgh, were discharged from bankruptcy. Oscar Mitchell of Clearfield county was appointed a referee in bankruptcy for that county.

Judge J. D. Shafer refused to take off a non-suit in the case of Thomas M. Rees and others against Joseph Walton & Co., an action to recover damages to the plaintiff's boat in a collision. The court says that the plaintiff's boat was going at an immoderate rate of speed, considering the foggy weather, and that the fog signals were not sounded.

In orphans court the following decrees in distribution were made: Anne Burke, $918 92; Katherina Kaiehthaler, $3,496; Thomas Walsh, $647 90; John Dick, $404 41; James N. Lawson, $3,280 15; Edgar B. Sherman, $1,004; John Hasel, $9,077 21; Christina Keck, $1,837 63; Joseph Stration, $5,361 87; Catherine Neelan, $57 75; Anton Steiner, $161 14.

Frank B. Newall, a blind man, was awarded $800 damages against the Walther Pharmacy Company for injuries received by falling down a cellar way. Newall is a familiar figure on the Pittsburgh and Allegheny streets, and although he cannot see, he was accustomed to walk about the streets unattended. A boy left a cellar door open and Newall stepped into the hole.

Judge Acheson appointed the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh receiver of the Hartman Manufacturing Company of New Castle. This action was based on the suit of Stewart W. Patterson of New Jersey. The Hartman company agreed to the appointment. The receiver is authorized to operate the plant until the raw material on hand has been worked up.

THANKSGIVING IN NEW HOME

WAIFS TO ENJOY DINNER AT BOYS' INDUSTRIAL HOME.

The New Buildings at Oakdale Form a Model Home for the Lads Who Are Cared For, Given an Education and Taught a Useful Trade—A Complete Institution in Every Respect. Many Will Enjoy Dinner.

The boys of the Industrial Home of Western Pennsylvania will eat their Thanksgiving dinner in the new and beautiful home building at Oakdale. Many youngsters will breathe the crisp country and settle down as best they can to rural life. The new quarters of the home are ready for occupancy, and not only the 30 boys who have been crowded into the close quarters at Euclid avenue, Allegheny, but many others who were turned away from the old home, will find an abiding place at "The Oaks," as the Oakdale building is called.

During the past six months at least 25 homeless boys applied for admission to the Euclid avenue institution, and the superintendent, the Rev. John W. Cleland, was obliged to turn them away on account of insufficient accommodations.

The new home is model in every respect. "The Oaks" was fitted up by the ladies in charge of the Ridge Avenue Protestant Orphanage as a summer home for the wee tots who were at that institution. With the purchase price of $5,000 the management of the orphanage has turned over to the boys' industrial home management the entire equipment, including all the carpets, tables, 100 beds with bedding, a piano and a well-stocked library. The building has its own private water plant, the water being supplied in abundance from a spring on the hillside above the house. There is steam heat, gas, good sanitary arrangements and everything that could be desired.

New Building Almost a Gift.

The amount of money originally put in the home was about $25,000, so that the industrial home management considers the transfer of the property for $5,000 as almost a gift.

It is said that one of the chief reasons for giving up the place as a summer home for the little folks is that, owing to the steepness of the ground surrounding the building, many accidents occurred during tots' summer visits. Several fell over the steep banks and sustained more or less serious injury.

Under the rules at the institution boys will be admitted to the new home between the ages of 6 and 16, if they are unable to provide for themselves, and their parents too poor to take care of them.

The home is neither an orphanage, strictly, nor a reformatory, although both orphans and bad boys are taken into it.

It is the aim of the superintendent and his staff of assistants to make the conditions as nearly like what a wholesome home should be as possible.

The institution is supported in three ways: Those who send boys to the home are expected to pay as much as they are able; some pay $1 a week. The products of the industrial department are sold and help to swell the income, just now the boys have a lot of sleds ready for the market. The third, the largest source of income, is from donations made by benevolent persons.

Boys Taught Useful Trades.

The work appeals strongly to business men, especially those who were once poor boys, and many generous gifts have been made. Much more money is needed if the work is to keep pace with the opportunities afforded for helping the unfortunate.

The Rev. C. Cleland, who is also identified with the institution, said: "Our first effort is to get a boy in good condition when he comes to the home. No wonder some of the boys look and are tough. You know in what a condition a colt or calf gets that is not properly fed and sheltered; well, some of these boys are tough for the same reason, and our first act is to feed the boy well and give him a good, comfortable bed. You would be surprised to see what a change even that makes in him; in his conduct as well as his appearance. Then we teach him—give him a rudimentary education, and teach him a trade."

Six acres of land have been rented adjoining the Oakdale building, and this will be put under cultivation in the spring, the boys of the home doing the work. Substantial shops will be erected in the spring and the boys will be put in charge of a competent mechanic who will teach them a trade.

President Moffat Returns Home.

The Rev. Dr. James D. Moffat, president of the Washington and Jefferson college, returned to this city yesterday from Philadelphia, where he has been attending the meeting of the Presbyterian union, in interest to the endowment fund of the Washington and Jefferson college. This was the first opportunity he ever had to present his claims of the college in that city. He states that he met with much success.

PAYROLL WILL BE MADE LARGER

COUNCILS WILL TAKE ACTION MONDAY

City Solicitor Clarence Burleigh Has Completed Draft of the New Measure and It Will Be Rushed Through.

Heavy increases in the city payroll will be the feature of the new charter ordinance prepared by City Solicitor Clarence Burleigh for introduction to councils next Monday. A special meeting of the legislative bodies has been called for this purpose. The ordinance will be presented and passed with as much haste as the rules will permit.

Mr. Burleigh's ordinance covers all departments and will contain a number of changes.

The consolidation of the detective and police bureaus will not be provided. It would deprive the administration of one job to give out. Two jobs are better than one and more jobs will be created wherever possible to satisfy the hungry hordes seeking office. The administration managers are planning to take care of as many of them as possible. They are arranging to repeat the program enacted at the courthouse within the past few months, when many machine men, thrown out of office by the last city administration, were put on the county payroll.

Economy will not be one of the mottoes of the new administration.

The city payroll will be swelled to proportions hitherto unknown. This is for the double purpose of providing positions for the workers now out of office and to retain those that may promise to "go along" with the administration in the February elections. Employes in the public works and public safety departments are being quietly sounded to learn if they can be trusted to support the administration in February. If they can they will be kept on the payroll until after February.

Removals in February.

The administration leaders expect the backbone of the stalwart wing to be broken if defeated in February. They will feel at liberty after that to remove as many of the stalwart officeholders as they please.

Recorder Brown was busy at his office in the city hall and at Sixth avenue headquarters receiving calls from applicants for office. He made no appointments and said that he had received no resignations during the day.

G. Wash Moore, who is an applicant for his old position of superintendent of the bureau of public property, called to see the recorder. There is some doubt of Mr. Moore getting back. The administration bosses have put him on the "deadwood" list. Mr. Moore secured his appointment through the personal influence of the late Senator C. L. Magee of the senator's brother, Councilman W. A. Magee, is urging his reappointment.

If Mr. Moore is turned down an open rupture between Councilman Magee and Recorder Brown is a possibility. John M. Anderson, former director of the charities, a relative of the Magees, got short shrift from the new administration.

Councilman Magee also asked the recorder to appoint John C. Henry to his old position of chief clerk in the recorder's office. This request was denied. Mr. Magee has asked for the retention of Police Inspector Henry Whitehouse of the East End, and Senator Flinn is quoted as saying that Whitehouse will have to go because he was faithful to the last administration.

Engineers Retained.

Director J. Guy McCandless announced yesterday that he would retain both Allan Hazen and Morris Knowles, filtration engineers. W. F. Miller, formerly resident filtration engineer, had not yet been provided for.

Although organization councilmen have been clamoring for haste in the work on the filtration plant and Recorder J. O. Brown made this subject a feature of his inaugural address, Director McCandless says that it will be impossible to start work on the plant before next spring. He said he found the plans left by Director Bigelow to be in splendid shape. Sixty per cent of the plans were completed under Director Bigelow. Director McCandless will have another conference tomorrow with the recorder regarding pure water. Senator Flinn is expected to be present again.

Recorder Brown and Director McCandless awarded contracts yesterday for the grading, paving and curbing of Moultrie street to Evan Jones, whose bid aggregated $5,600; for a sewer on Center avenue to Sweeney & Houston for $4,200; for filing cases and a metallic case to the Art Metal Construction Company for $1,400.

NEW OFFICES FOR WABASH

FINE FIFTH AVENUE LOCATION HAS BEEN SECURED.

The Red and Black Banner Will Float Next Week From the Building Formerly Occupied by the Gazette—Equipment Will Be Handsome—Master Mechanic Hyndman Remembered by Employes.

The Wabash railroad yesterday closed a long-term lease upon the former offices of The Pittsburgh Gazette at Nos. 318 and 320 Fifth avenue. Next week W. D. Holliday, assistant general freight agent, and Fred H. Tristram, central passenger agent of the Wabash, will occupy offices now being fitted up for men on the third floor of the building. February 1 possession of the first floor of the building will be secured.

Preparations are being made at the order of President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., for fitting up on the first floor one of the handsomest railroad offices in the city. Abundant room is provided, even for the growth of business sure to come at the entrance of the Wabash into this city as a Pittsburgh line in a year and a half.

In the cities in which the Wabash enters it has been the uniform policy of Mr. Ramsey to procure a location and fit the office in such a manner as best to serve the convenience of the traveling and shipping public. This policy is being carried out in this city. The choice of the location is considered excellent. The offices are in the busiest block in the city, where the thousands that pass daily will be greeted by the familiar red and black banner of the Wabash.

Another Present for F. T. Hyndman.

F. T. Hyndman, who yesterday severed his connection with the Pittsburgh & Western as master mechanic, was the recipient last evening of a handsome present from the shop men and road men who have been under him. It was a handsome silver set. The gift was made at the shops of the company at Kilbuck and Corr streets, Allegheny. Mr. Hyndman in accepting it thanked the men heartily for the mark of their good will and expressed his regrets in leaving the place where he has so many friends. This morning he is to take charge of the big new shops of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh at DuBois. J. F. Prendergast, late master mechanic at the Benwood shops of the Baltimore & Ohio, will hereafter have charge of the Pittsburgh & Western shops as well as those on the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio at Connellsville and Glenwood.

McCormick Succeeds Graham.

E. T. Graham, who has been passenger and freight agent of the Pennsylvania at Uniontown, has resigned and will be succeeded by W. D. McCormick of this city. Mr. McCormick, who has been in the office of Supt. Robert Pitcairn of the Pittsburgh division, has already gone to Uniontown. Mr. Graham took charge of the Uniontown office in January last, succeeding G. W. Conrad, who came to Pittsburgh at that time as a Union station official.

Strike Still On.

The strike of Union station workers in sympathy with the structural steel workers has been almost forgotten in the present strike of the switchmen. The electricians and elevator men are still out, and a number of the painters and decorators have as yet refused to work. Enough men have been secured to keep the elevators running. The other work is not so pressing as to demand immediate attention. The non-union men employed in the trainshed, despite the demand of the structural workers' union, are rapidly making ready for erecting the great shed.

Tunnel Contract Soon to Be Let.

December 1 is announced as the date for letting the contract for the new Pennsylvania tunnel at Gallitzin. This tunnel is to be the largest through the Alleghanies. It will have two tracks and the width will be sufficient to allow even the largest engines to pass with safety. In the present Portage tunnel this has not been possible. When the new tunnel is ready the old one will be enlarged and repaired so that the road will have four tracks through the crest of the mountains.

To Settle Pass Question.

The call for the meeting of western presidents December 4 at New York is signed by George J. Gould, J. J. Hill and E. H. Harriman. This is the meeting at which the final determination of the western lines in the matter of abolition of exchange passes will be reached, as well as the final decision on a number of other important matters. There is a report in circulation, said to emanate from authoritative sources, that the exchange agreement between the western and trunk line and central territory railroads will be continued during the coming year, at least, although all agreements between the roads in the east will be abolished.

RAILROAD NOTES.

George R. Henderson, a former apprentice of the Pennsylvania's shops, has been made road superintendent of motive power of the Santa Fe.

The Seaboard Air line is credited with purchasing the Virginia & Southwestern from Big Stone Gap to Mountain City, with the intention of entering the coal country.

It is said the Delaney system of telegraphy, which has had a month of successful trial on the Pennsylvania between Philadelphia and Altoona, will be installed in this city shortly.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, the mechanical genius of the Vanderbilt family, has invented a new steel hopper car for coal, of which big things are promised. He has also completed designs for a new tank car for grain.

BANKING BY MAIL.

Prominent Feature of Pittsburgh's Leading Savings Bank.

Why risk your money by placing it in unsafe places when the system of Banking by Mail, inaugurated by the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, Smithfield street, opposite Postoffice, makes it so easy to do your banking with that old reliable concern? $9,000,000 assets is your protection, and 4 per cent interest, compounded twice yearly, is paid. Syrup of Figs

The Sale Annually of Millions of Bottles

of Syrup of Figs and the universal satisfaction which it has given attest the fact that it possesses the qualities which commend it to public favor. With the diffusion of knowledge of what a laxative should be and a general understanding of the fact that it should have a truly laxative and beneficial effect and be wholly free from every objectionable quality, or substance, the large and growing demand for shows that it is destined to supplant the old-time cathartics which were generally injurious and usually disagreeable as well. In Syrup of Figs one finds a true laxative, simple and pleasant to the taste, gentle in its action and beneficial in effect.

In the process of manufacture figs are used as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal virtues of Syrup of Figs are obtained from an excellent combination of plants known to be medicinally laxative and to act most beneficially. In order

IN THE OIL FIELDS

The territory north of Bealls Mills, Lewis county, W. Va., is quite remarkable for its different oil-producing strata. It has been regarded as fifth sand territory, although fair wells have been found in both the stray and Gordon. The South Penn Oil Company has just drilled its No. 15 on the T. R. Reynolds farm into the Gordon, and the well is producing 100 barrels a day from that formation. Now if the wells drilled into this sand made so good a showing as this, it will not for the present at least be drilled to the lower sand.

Southwest of the Wolf Summit field the South Penn has completed its No. 4 on the G. T. Richards farm and will have a very light well. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the same company has drilled its No. 5 on the A. J. Varner farm into the stray and has a 15-barrel pumper. It is drilling to the lower sands.

On the west side of the Wallace development, the test well on the Thomas E. Coffman farm has been completed and is good for 35 barrels a day.

In the Buffalo Run district, Wetzel county, the Kanawha Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 88 on the John Mills tract and will not have better than a 5-barrel pumper.

In the Smithfield district the South Penn Oil Company has completed its test well on the O. A. Talkington farm and has a show for a 25-barrel pumper. The well the Jacob Cunningham farm, near the Marion-Wetzel county line, is still holding up at 340 barrels a day.

On McKim creek, Mead district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its No. 8 on the J. L. Poe farm into the Cow Run sand and has a show for an 80-barrel producer. The Carter company is starting Nos. 9, 10 and 11 on this farm. On the same stream, in Lafayette district, Pleasants county, J. N. Boos & Co. are drilling at 600 feet at their test well on the S. W. Wagner farm.

On Bens run, Union district, the Liberty Oil Company has completed No. 19 on the A. J. Doty farm and has a show for a 50-barrel producer in the Cow Run sand. Nos. 5, 18 and 20 on this farm are dry in the same formation, and No. 19 is located on a direct line between the two dusters.

Knoll & Co. are due in the sand at their test well on the L. Thistle farm, and C. Gillson & Co. are drilling at 600 feet at their second test well on the C. Williamson farm, located on Sugar creek, Union district. Schiegel & Freid have plugged the hole, at a depth of 700 feet, at their test well on the Mary A. Mussey farm and have moved the rig.

C. F. Hosford & Co.'s No. 15 on the Reyman Brewing Company's farm is still producing 180 barrels a day.

In the Elm Run district, Ritchie county, the Shawmut Oil Company has drilled its No. 5 on the H. Layfield farm into the sand and has a 5-barrel pumper.

In Clay district, Mallory Bros. are down 1,000 feet with a test well on the William Swanton farm. On Sheeps run, Grant district, Markey & Co. are due in the sand at a second test well on the Markey estate. On Whisky run, the Consolidated Oil Company's No. 2 on the Mary J. Smith farm is not good for more than 5 barrels a day from the Keener sand.

Southeastern Ohio.

On the Ohio side, in the shallow sand territory on Wolf creek, Morgan County, Hochstetter and the Southwestern Petroleum Company have completed their No. 41 on the J. P. Hoon farm and have a 10-barrel producer. A. J. Leonard & Co. have drilled in their No. 9 on the John Sheets farm and have a show for a good producer. Cameron & Co.'s No. 2 on the William Sherwood farm is showing for a light well.

The Cumberland Oil Company has completed its No. 8 on the O. M. Lovell farm and has a duster.

In the Sand Hill district, Washington county, Clark & Campbell have completed their No. 6 on the Racer heirs' farm and have a 5-barrel pumper. In the same district, the Barber Drilling Company has completed its No. 2 on the G. C. Corner farm and has a duster.

Local Fields.

In the Burgettstown field in Washington county, Hulings Bros. have drilled in their test well on the Ray farm and have a show for a small pumper.

In the Turkey Foot field, across the state line in Hancock county, W. Va., Haskell & Hopkins have completed their No. 2 on the Mary Morrow and Brice Bros.' farm and have a 20-barrel producer.
